Cutting Budget Will Be Tough Job, Critics Say

Foreign Aid Funds Target Of Economy Advocates

WASHINGTON (UP) — Economy-minded congressmen promised today to try their utmost to trim President Eisenhower's record peacetime spending budget of $71.8 billion. But they conceded it would be a tough task.

No one believed that the budget could be trimmed enough to justify a general tax cut and still keep the government operating in the black.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va). a leader of the economy bloc in the Senate. said. "My experience has been that it is very difficult to cut a president's budget." Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) agreed, particularly "in times like these" when the nation is prosperous.

Foreign Aid Main Target

Foreign aid funds will be the principal target of the economy advocates.

Mr. Eisenhower proposed spending in the new fiscal year beginning July 1 $14.3 billion on foreign military and economic aid, an increase of $250 million over this year. He requested $4.4 billion in appropriations, or new obligational authority, as against $3.7 approved by Congress for the current year.

Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga) said this request "ought to be drastically reduced." Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La) proposed cutting it in half. Byrd questioned whether foreign aid has been benefiting this nation very much.

Cites Britain, France

"Britain and France have been the big recipients." he told a reporter. "And they almost set off World War III without even telling us in advance." He was referring to the recent attack on Egypt.

Sen. Styles Bridges (R-NH). ranking Republican on the Senate Appropriations Committee. said "the utmost of economy consistent with our free world obligations" should be exercised in approving foreign aid funds.

Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey, the President's chief fiscal adviser, already has invited Congress to cut Mr. Eisenhower's proposed budget wherever it can do so without impairing na-

Airplanes Collide On Runway at Pittsburgh Airport

PITTSBURGH (UP)—A TWA Constellation and Capital DC-3 airliner collided on a runway Wednesday at the Greater Pittsburgh Airport while taxiing out for takeoffs.

There were no injuries and passengers aboard the damaged planes were transferred to other flights.

Airport officials said a propeller on the four-engined Constellation chewed into the ring wing of the DC-3 about 1000 feet off the main runway. Both craft were proceeding to take-off positions assigned by the airport control tower.

TWA transferred the 38 passengers aboard flight 28 to another plane bound for Philadelphia and New York. Capital shifted its 20 passengers from flight 564 to a craft bound for Buffalo, Rochester and Elmira, N.Y.

Brady was arrested in Allentown a week ago and returned to Erie where the alleged offense occurred. The hearing originally was scheduled for Tuesday.

Perry Bus Co. Permitted to Increase Fares

The Public Utility Commission yesterday authorized the Perry Bus Lines, of Perryopolis, to raise fares Sunday for transporting glass and steel plant workers in Westmoreland, Fayette and Allegheny counties.

The fare changes, expected to produce $10,600 more annually, will affect employes of the Anchor-Hocking Glass Corp. and Carnegie-Illinois Steel Co.

The line uses 10-round trip tickets only, and these will go up $2 except in one instance where the boost is $1.50.

Following are the changes:

Between Clairton and these points: Smithton, from $6 to 8: Perryopolis, from $7 to $9; Dawson, no change at $10, Scottdale, $8.50 to $10.

Between Connellsville and Perryopolis via Smock, from $6 to $8. and via Grindstone, from $6.50 to $8.50.

Rayburn Behind Request of Ike

WASHINGTON (UP) — Speaker Sam Rayburn today threw his full support behind President Eisenhower's request for military and economic powers to meet the Communist threat in the Middle East.

The Democratic leader told reporters he wanted to put a stop to "guessing on my position" on the Eisenhower Doctrine.

He had previously been reported undecided or opposed to granting Mr. Eisenhower discretionary authority to spend an extra $200 million in economic aid this year in the Middle East.

He also had been reported as favoring giving Mr. Eisenhower a statement that Congress supports the President in his Middle East negotiations — in place of an actual grant of authority to U.S. military forces, if necessary, to block overt Communist aggression in the area.

Corning Plant Signs Contract with Union; Wage Increase Given

The Charleroi plant of Corning Glass Works and Local 53, United Glass and Ceramics Workers Union (AFL-CIO) yesterday signed a one-year labor contract yesterday.

Announcement of the agreement was made by Paul W. Schulz, plant manager, and Harry Prentice, Local 53 president.

Among the major results of the negotiations were wage increases ranging from 10 to 14 cents per hour; a number of individual rate adjustments; a revision of the pension plan to permit retirement of women at age 62; four weeks paid vacation after 25 years of service; New Year's Day as an additional paid holiday and changes in seniority provisions.

Increase Retroactive

The wage increase was made retroactive to Dec. 23, 1956, and the agreement on New Year's Day as an additional paid holiday is retroactive to include Jan. 1, 1957. The new contract will remain in force until Jan. 16, 1958.

The new vacation benefit will become effective this year. Previously the longest paid vacation was three weeks.

Pension plan provisions allow women to start receiving a pension at age 62. Subject to the necessary approvals, the company's new plan will become effective retroactive to Jan. 1, 1957.

Representing the union during negotiations were: Willard Pelican, District president; Nick D'Orazio, International representative; Harry Prentice, Local 53 president, and John McKenna, Samuel Scaccia and Mary Ellen O'Neill, International wage committee members.

Corning Glass Works was represented by Thomas Waaland, vice president and director of industrial relations; R. M. Clifford, manager of manufacturing, consumer products division; P. W. Schulz, plant manager; H. M. Hosier, production superintendent; I. B. Lacy, supervisor of industrial relations; and J. R. Joy, industrial relations representative.

UMW Members To Be Assessed $10 by Lewis

WASHINGTON (UP)—All working members of the United Mine Workers will be assessed $10 this winter to help meet "tremendous expenses" incurred by their union in 1956.

The assessment, expected to bring an additional $2.5 million into the union treasury from its 225,000 working members, was announced Wednesday in the "Journal." official UMW publication.

Half the assessment is due from the pay period in the latter half of January and half in the latter half of February.

John L. Lewis, UMW president, explained the 1956 expenses included litigation, settlement of lawsuits, organization campaigns and expenses incurred by the international convention last October at Cincinnati.

"The assessment," Lewis said, "is very small and actually amounts to less than half a day's pay. Considering the use to which it will be put, it is fully justified."

The October convention increased working miners' dues from $4 monthly to $4.25 and the dues of disabled and pensioned miners from $1 monthly to $1.25.

The latter are exempt from the new assessment.

Planning Expert Urges Pittsburgh Highway Link

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa. (UP) — A planning expert urged Wednesday night that a high-speed, limited-access highway be built to connect between Pittsburgh and the proposed Sharon-to-Stroudsburg Keystone Shortway.

Park H. Martin, executive director of the Allegheny Conference on Community Development, said a detailed route location for the Shortway has not been decided yet, but "it appears that it may cross the Allegheny Valley in the vicinity of Emlenton, Venango County."

But unless a proper link with Pittsburgh is constructed, he said, the proposed Shortway "will mean nothing to Pittsburgh and be of less value to you here on the lower reaches of the Allegheny River."

Martin spoke at the annual dinner meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of Allegheny Valley. About 200 persons, including commissioners, planning officials and other leaders of Allegheny and Armstrong counties, attended the affair at Brackenridge.

Grand Jury in County Indicts Three in Slayings

GREENSBURG, Pa. (UP)— A Westmoreland County grand jury has ordered three men to stand trial for murder, one for the slaying of his mother and sister.

Charles Lutzovich. Hutchinson. was indicted on two counts of murder Wednesday in the fatal shooting of his mother, Mary, and his sister, Helen, in the family home last Oct. 13. He also seriously wounded his father.

Lutzovich, an unemployed laborer, told police at the time, "I felt I wasn't wanted."

Two Scottdale brothers, William A. and Nelson E. Welty, were ordered to stand trial for the slaying of Cleveland W. Baird, about 75, in East Huntingdon Twp. last Oct. 19.

Witnesses told the panel the Welty brothers picked up Baird at a tavern and drove him to a deserted spot where they allegedly beat him to death after robbing him.

Car Strippers In Action Here

Car-strippers are in action again in Monessen, it was reported by policet oday.

David Victoria, of 301 Ontario street, a Monessen councilman, told police late yesterday morning that someone removed two hubcaps from his car while it was parked near Monessen High School. He said the theft occurred while he was attending a basketball game at the school.

John Hricko, of 1255 Maple avenue, said someone tried to break into his car while it was parked in front of his home yesterday. He said the locks on all four doors were jimmied. Nothing was reported missing, it was said.

Car Hits Pole And Two Garages

A Phoenix, Ariz., man, William Roles, escaped injury when he lost control of his car as it rounded a curve on Route 1 near Ellsworth yesterday afternoon and hit a utility pole and two garages. State Police reported today.

Reports said the garages are owned by John B. Jones, of Ellsworth. Jones' car, which was in one of the garages, was slightly damaged.

Jury Debating Bribe Charge on Mannarino

PITTSBURGH (UP)—A federal court jury began deliberations today to decide whether Gabriel Mannarino, a New Kensington rackets boss, tried to bribe a man he thought was to be a witness in a vote fraud trial two years ago.

The case went to the jury at 11:30 a.m. after defense attorney Vincent M. Casey, in his summation, stressed that the government had not produced the money it contends the defendant gave to Harry W. Truitt Jr.

Mannarino, on the stand Wednesday, denied he gave any money to Truitt. But Truitt, former New Kensington dental technician now living in Philadelphia, had testified Mannarino gave him the $150 and ordered him to "keep your mouth shut."

Truitt said he had given the money to the FBI but later received it back and spent it.

Truitt was not scheduled to testify at the vote trial. Government attorneys, however, contend Mannarino had reason to believe Truitt was scheduled to take the stand on the first day of the trial of seven New Kensington defendants, including rackets czar Frank Phillips. All seven pleaded guilty or were convicted.

Mannarino, in response to a defense attorney's question, gave the court his version of the meeting with Truitt on Jan. 10, 1955:

"I said 'Hello, how are you'... and that was it."

Truitt testified earlier Mannarino had followed him to a water cooler during the noon recess and asked him to step over to a stairwell. There, Truitt told the jury, "he gave me $100 and said 'that's peanuts'." He said Mannarino then gave him $50 more.

Truitt, under cross-examination.

Eastern Part of the Nation Is Freezing

By UNITED PRESS

Winter's bitterest weather maintained its devastating seige across the eastern half of the nation today, claiming an ever mounting toll of lives.

In the East, residents from New England to the mid-Atlantic states dug out from the worst snowstorm of the winter. The storm Wednesday, borne on icy winds, dumped up to 8 inches of snow in Virginia and a foot or more in sections of New England.

A below zero cold wave gripped the nation's midlands overnight, but weathermen promised a brief "warmup" was on its way from of all places, Canada.

Forecasters said cold air drained from Canada is being replaced with warmer Pacific air that will boost temperatures from below zero into the 20s in the Midwest. However, they warned a fresh onslaught of cold air is expected to invade the area by Friday.

Heavy Death Toll

A United Press count showed at least 51 deaths blamed on the weather since the start of the cold wave Monday. There were nine in Indiana, eight in New York, six in Illinois, three each in West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Virginia, North Carolina and Michigan, two in New England, two in Iowa and one each in Mississippi and the District of Columbia.

The snow storm snarled transportation in the populous East and authorities warned motorists that driving conditions remained "very miserable" today.

Schools were closed in the suburbs of Washington, D.C., and in Dutchess County, N.Y. an estimated 20,000 commuters were delayed in getting to work in New York City.

In north central New York state, gas service was restored Wednes-

Pricedale Man Suffers Fatal Attack on Bus

A 62-year-old retired coal miner from Pricedale, John Robinson, Sr., died of an apparent heart attack while riding on a bus this morning in Belle Vernon.

He collapsed on the bus about 8:40 a. m. and was pronounced dead on arrival at Charleroi-Monessen Hospital about 20 minutes later.

The man and his wife were enroute to see a physician in Pittsburgh where Robinson had been receiving treatments for an asthma condition.

Mrs. Robinson said her husband complained of being "very sick" while they were waiting for the 8:30 a. m. bus to pick them up in front of their home, House 68, in Pricedale. She said he became very sick on the bus and collapsed.

Besides his wife, he is survived by two children, Mrs. Norma Jean Byrd and John Robinson, Jr., both of Philadelphia.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Rehoboth Pastor Gets Vote of Confidence

The congregation of Rehoboth Presbyterian Church in Rostraver Township gave its pastor, the Rev. J. Nelson Jackaway, what he regards as a vote of confidence last night.

In addition to electing favorable members to the various boards of the church, the congregation also approved a $1,000 salary increase for the pastor.

It marked a victory for Mr. Jackaway, chairman of the United Commission for Social Action, popularly known as "Operation: Crusade."

"Operation: Crusade" is an organization of Protestant ministers in Westmoreland and Fayette counties which was formed about five years ago to battle rackets and corrupt government.

Mr. Jackaway, in a sermon last Sunday morning, appealed to his congregation for support against what he termed a politically inspired movement to drive him from his pastorate.

He said he was under severe "pressure" inspired by political figures in Rostraver Township and Westmoreland County who wanted to get rid of him for his part in "Operation: Crusade."

Mr. Jackaway said today attendance at the meeting was unusually large, despite the zero weather. He said over 100 members participated in the election of officers — about twice the usual number. The congregation has a total membership of about 330.

Named as elders were: Jewett G. Smith, Frank H. Smith, Walter Colvin, Sr., H. Wayne Leeper, Lawrence Finley, E. F. Carr, William H. Heath, Ralph Leeper and Robert Finley.

Deacons elected include Walter Colvin, Jr., Donald Leeper and John Narbut.

New trustees are Gail Finley, Donald Smith and John Leeper.

Two Below Is Recorded Here; Little Relief

Monessen district residents kept their heavy outercoats buttoned up today as winter's severest cold wave entered its sixth consecutive day.

The cold, winter blasts sent the mercury down from 12 degrees above at noon yesterday to two degrees below zero at 7 a. m. today, according to readings obtained from Lock No. 4, Monessen, and the Donora Zinc Works weather station.

However, some residents living in upper Monessen reported temperature readings from six to eight degrees below zero at 7 o'clock this morning.

At noon today, the mercury had climbed to nine degrees above.

Tonight's lows will be from zero to 12 degrees above. Friday's high temperatures are expected to range from 15 to 20 degrees above.

The western counties were the hardest hit in Pennsylvania.

At least four deaths in the state have been blamed on the weather this week.

The latest victim was John Wancas, 62, of Duquesne, who suffered a fatal heart attack Wednesday after shoveling snow from his sidewalk.

At Pittsburgh, Mrs. Mary C. Donahey, 93, died in a hospital today of burns suffered when her clothing caught fire as she huddled near a small heating stove in her home at Elliott.

Ridgway reported the coldest temperature this morning, 28 degrees below zero. Kane had 22 below, Henderson and Van, both in Venango County, reported 21 below and 17 below, respectively.

The temperatures were recorded on tested thermometers of the United Natural Gas Co.

An ice gorge which choked the Allegheny River in the Franklin-Oil City area posed a problem.

Harold R. Clark, Red Cross disaster chairman, said that if the ice became worse the State Police and Army Engineers would be asked to dynamite it.

Ice Fairly Solid

The ice was fairly solid in most parts of a 10 to 12 mile stretch from below Franklin to Oil City. It also massed in Oil Creek, which divides Oil City and flows into the Allegheny.

Heavy snow accumulations added to the distress of residents in the Ridgway and Erie areas.

Ridgway had an inch of new snow, making a total accumulation on the ground of 10 inches. Erie got four inches of fresh snow during the night. The temperature at Erie hit five below zero, breaking the previous record low set in 1893.

Hundreds of commuters were stranded in below-zero temperatures this morning when a power failure cut service on 10 trolley

Burglars Break Into Store on Donner Avenue

Burglars last night broke into one downtown business firm but were unable to break into another, Chief of Police Michael Kuvinka reported today.

The burglars entered Haury's Wall Paper and Paint store at 467 Donner avenue about 10:30 last night and escaped after taking $5.15 from a register. Entrance was gained by punching a hole in a rear door and then unlatching the lock.

Police said an attempt was made to break into the Seymour Jewelry Store located next to Haury's but a heavy steel door prevented the burglars from entering.

Patrolman Leroy Bailey said he checked the two stores on his 9:30 p. m. patrol. The burglary apparently took place during the intervening hour, it was said.

Legion Auxiliary in 'Coupon Program' for Major Project

The regular meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary was held Monday evening in the Legion Home, presided over by the president, Mrs. Jane Abbott. Reports of officers and various committee chairmen were given.

The "Coupon Program" is being emphasized this year. For many years the president of the Auxiliary, Department of Pennsylvania, has been privileged to select a project of her own.

For the coupon project, help will be given to those living in their own homes or in state schools, who need the specialized material aids.

Up to a million persons in our state are affected directly by the needs of the mentally retarded, for they are the families of the estimated 300 000 in Pennsylvania, who need some kind of special help because of mental retardation.

As another project, the Auxiliary is still continuing to serve dinners every Tuesday evening to the Kiwanis Club, and lunch once a month to the Lion's Auxiliary Club. All members are invited to have a part in these projects.

A social hour followed the business session. Hostesses were Mrs. Ray Culp, Mrs. Philip Vaughan, Mrs. Verna Mogret, Mrs. Ada Hand, Mrs. Mary Bosley and Peggy Bosley.

Men Laugh at Women's Clothes

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UP)—Well, girls, for at least a century they've been laughing about our clothes and our pursuit of men. In that order.

A hundred years from now they'll still be laughing. About the same things, and probably in the same order.

So says Florett Robinson, co-author of a compilation of cartoons concerning what she and her cohort, William Cole, understatedly call "America's most controversial figure" — the American woman.

Authors Robinson and Cole call their work, "Women Are Wonderful." It contains 400 cartoons from America's top humor artists through the last 100 years. These include Charles Dana Gibson, John Held, Jr., James Thurber, H. T. Webster, Cobean, William Steig, Peter Arno, Abner Dean and Helen Hokinson.

Miss Robinson, in an interview, explained that only the last century was included because it was during this period that America's humor magazines thrived.

The things about us women that make men laugh at us—and us laugh at ourselves—have changed little, she said. But the cartoonists' approach is gentler today. Some of the early drawings were vicious, she said.

Fashion, she said, always had been the cartoonists' richest vein "because clothes are something in which every woman is involved." One hundred years ago, it was the hoop skirt being ridiculed. Then the bustle. Then the hoop skirt again. "A century hence it may be the space suit," said Miss Robinson.

Hats, she added, always will be good for laughs.

The pursuit of man rates high because like clothes, the chase is pretty universal.

Miss Robinson, now a pictorial researcher for Scribner's, said she became interested in cartoons about women when doing some historical research for a previous employer.

Recently, she and Cole, who is with Alfred A. Knopf Publishing Co., combined their efforts on the publication. Now their friends are urging a sequel on men. Suggested title (from an embittered female), "Men Are Stinkers."

Miss Robinson said women are preferred subjects for cartoons for a variety of reasons. First off, there are more men cartoonists. women inferiors and perfect targets for their sniping. Women always have been decorative material for the artist.

Purpose of the meeting was to "plan for the new achievements of the future."

Electronics to Control Railroad

ERIE, Pa. (UP) — Cleveland was scientifically tied to Buffalo, N. Y., yesterday when the New York Central Railroad opened the longest, most modern stretch of electronically double track in the world.

Built at a cost of $6,238,460, the centralized traffic control system will enable the railroad to improve its service while reducing its present four track system to two tracks.

Speed limits for freight trains will be increased from 30 to 60 miles an hour and passenger trains will be able to whip over the 163 miles of electronic track at 80 miles an hour.

At the formal unveiling of the system, Central President Alfred E. Perlman said the installation "was highly significant" to the modernization of the railroad industry.

Heretofore, he noted, virtually all other CTC installations of any size throughout the nation have been on single track systems.

Trains moving over the new double-track system will be able to operate in either direction on either track at high speeds, while under constant observation and control of the dispatcher located at Erie, the mid-way point on the division.

Cross overs from one track to another have been installed every seven miles to allow the dispatchers to move trains from one track to another as frequently as is necessary. Under the old system, dispatchers could cross over trains only every 20 miles.

Perlman said that safeguards installed with CTC provide the Central with the "world's safest stretch of trackage."

He noted that a leverman cannot throw a wrong switch and an engineer cannot fail to obey a signal without the train coming to an automatic stop.

The Central through electronics, "now is able to control more traffic on more miles of track faster, better and more economically than has ever been possible in the entire history of railroading," Perlman said.

By eliminating two sets of track along the Erie Division, the railroad will be able to reduce sharply its expenses in the way of track and signal maintenance, taxes and operating costs, but without losing any track capacity, he noted.

The Central executive said additional installations now are in progress from buffalo to Syracuse N.Y., and from Toledo, Ohio, to Elkhart, Ind. Installations from Boston to Albany, N.Y., from Syracuse to Albany, and from Cleveland to Toledo still are in the drawing board stage.

By 1963, Perlman stated, the Central's entire main l . from New York to Chicago will be under CTC control.

PONTIAC, Mich. (UP)—After only 13 days on the job, Leo F. Coyle, 27, resigned as Oakland County's traffic probation officer, it was announced today. Coyle resigned when it was discovered his driver's license had been suspended for 60 days because of five traffic tickets.

Route 30 Widening Urged

Group in Harrisburg Meeting

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Highways Department today studied the possibility of widening the 90-mile center section of the Lincoln Highway from two to three or four lanes.

The improvements to the highway, which spans the southern third of the state, were sought Wednesday by members of the Pennsylvania Lincoln Highway Association who met here with Gov. George M. Leader and Highways Secretary Joseph J. Lawler.

C. Clair Winter, Everett, president of the association, said the group asked the improvements for the section of the road between Ligonier, in Westmoreland County, and St. Thomas, near Chambersburg in Franklin County.

Winter said the highway, designed as Route 30, is adequate west of Ligonier and east of St. Thomas, but that much traffic leaves the route at those points to avoid traveling the two-lane mountainous section of the highway.

Lawler told the group he will personally make a trip over the road "within the next month" and prepare an improvement program for the road.

Winter indicated that after further study the association may suggest building an alternate route across the state in the south as part of the federal interstate system, which would be financed by federal funds up to 90 per cent.

He said there is "some possibility" that the Pennsylvania Turnpike, which the state plans to place on the interstate system, may not be acceptable under federal regulations. It may be cheaper, Winter suggested, to build a parallel route rather than modify the turnpike.

Other members of the association delegation were:

State Rep. Marl H. Garlock, McConnellsburg; Raymond Rep-Logie, Bedford County Democratic chairman; George W. Brown and E. G. Studebaker, York; A. H. Sweeney, Glenn F. Cook and Ray E. Sprinkle, Ligonier; Simon K. Uhl, Somerset; Charles H. Gillan, Judge Chauncey Depuy and Howard W. Ott, Chambersburg, and Henry M. Scharf, Gettysburg.

PHYSICS LAW FOUND WRONG — These two Columbia physicists, Prof. Chien-Shiung Wu and Prof. Leon M. Lederman, were among scientists who joined Prof. T. D. Lee of Columbia and Prof. C. N. Yang of the Institute for Advanced Study, Princeton, N. J., in experiments proving that sub-atomic meson particles do not spin as scientists have thought they did, thus upsetting a 30-year-old law of theoretical physics. Now a new law of theoretical physics will have to be devised. The discovery has a bearing on understanding of the inter-action of all particles of living and non-living matter, right on up to stars and planets. Profs. Wu and Lederman are shown in New York, holding a block of graphite enclosed in a coil. When attached to a cyclotron, it slows down particles.

Ex-Bank Teller Gets Two Years In Embezzlement

FAIRMONT, W. Va. (UP)—Robert H. Drodge, former Morgantown bank teller and part-time minister, was sentenced to two years in prison Wednesday on his plea of guilty to five counts of embezzlement.

Drodge, 27, of Mt. Morris, Pa., was indicted last summer in connection with a $22,500 shortage at the First National Bank of Morgantown, where he took a job after leaving his post as an unordained Methodist circuit minister three years ago.

He admitted taking as much as $17,500 "little by little" but told authorities "I always figured I would pay it back." He was unable to make restitution after his arrest. He said he had spent the money "foolishly."

Drodge pleaded guilty to five counts of embezzlement and false entry last Nov. 9 before Federal Judge Harry E. Watkins here, but sentencing had been delayed pending an investigation by probation officers.

He was arrested last August after a Mt. Morris gas station operator complained that his account at the bank was $22,500 short. He was indicted by a Green County, Pa., grand jury at Waynesburg on fraudulent pretense charges, then was brought to U.S. Court here, where a grand jury indicted him for embezzlement.

Accent Is on Youth At State Farm Show

HARRISBURG (UP)—The accent was on youth again today at the Pennsylvania Farm Show with the judging of 4-H baby beeves.

A total of 113 baby beeves will be paraded through the large arena for selection of the grand champion, top prize of the show.

The baby beef show follows Wednesday's youth meetings when the Future Farmers of America awarded Gov. George M. Leader an honorary "Keystone Farmer" degree, and the Future Homemakers of America gave out 77 degrees.

The governor, who operates a poultry hatchery in private life, told 1,800 FFA youths "the farm is not the easiest place in the world to make a dollar but it is the finest place in the world to live."

A team owned by Clarence Brainerd, Harford, Susquehanna County, won the heavyweight horse-pulling contest in the large arena Wednesday night. The team of Leo Zandi, of Sheffield, Warren County, placed second.

The lightweight championship was won by M. O. Hetrick, New Bethlehem, Armstrong County.

In the first sale of livestock ever held at the show exclusively for 4-H sales, top price of $1,500 was paid by Pennsylvania State University for the grand champion Hereford cow consigned by Bengall Farms, Riegelsville, Bucks County. The grand champion bull, also from Bengall Farms, went for $750 to John Sipe, Thomasville, York County.

Estimated attendance Wednesday was 140,000, making a total of 320,000 for the first three days of the five-day agricultural exposition. Show officials said that both arenas were filled most of the day for livestock judging.

Tonight's program in the large arena will feature the annual livestock parade.

Warns Collectors Of Sales Taxes

HARRISBURG (UP)—Revenue Secretary Gerald A. Gleeson today warned licensed collectors of the state's 3 per cent sales tax that heavy penalties may be imposed for failure to meet the Feb. 28 deadline for filing their first annual returns.

Gleeson said the return covers the period from March 7 to Dec. 31, 1956, and must contain a complete accounting of the sales and use tax liability for the period.

"The majority of our taxpayers are submitting accurate returns and by further complying with our directive covering their annual return taxpayers can greatly assist the department in its current drive against tax evasion," he said.

Methodist Board Of Missions to Get New Secretary

BUCK HILL FALLS, Pa. (UP)—The Rev. Dr. Earl R. Brown retired today as general secretary of the Division of National Missions at the annual meeting of the Methodist Board of Missions.

Dr. Brown, who served 12 years in the post, will act as advisory assistant to the general secretary-elect, Dr. W. Vernon Middleton, until the June meeting of the North-East Ohio Annual Conference.

Glenn F. Sanford, a rural specialist, said Wednesday that the nation's growing and shifting population is causing vast problems for churches.

He said the cost of building new churches, in both old and new communities, is far in excess of funds available. He added that Methodist leaders estimate the church should erect 1,500 new churches within the next three years, at a cost of $219-million.

The national mission division also approved a charter for a four-year-old Alaska Methodist College at Anchorage and elected 14 members of a 16-man board of trustees. The remaining two will be nominated by the Methodist Board of Education now meeting in Atlantic City, N. J.

The charter provides that at least half of the 16 trustees be Alaskans and that three-fourths of them must be Methodists.

The charter for the first church-related liberal arts college in the territory was presented by John Connelly, Anchorage attorney.

Local Rarick Committee in Campaign to Raise Funds

A drive has been started by several employes of the No. 1 Rod Mill at the Monessen plant of Pittsburgh Steel Co. to raise funds to back Don C. Rarick, a millhand from McKeesport who is seeking to replace David J. McDonald as president of the United Steelworkers of America (AFL-CIO), it was learned today.

The anti-McDonald group here is joining other "rebel" segments in the USW who are favoring Rarick in protest over the $2 monthly dues increase voted at the union's convention last September. Rarick is international chairman of the dues protesting committee.

A spokesman for the local "rebel" group said some 30 to 50 men have already contributed money.

"We have just started our fund-raising drive. If we can get as many men to donate money as we did to sign the dues protest petitions last year, we should be able to raise more than $1,000," the spokesman stated.

He claimed more than 1,000 signed the petitions.

Anthony Ortolona, president of Pittsburgh Steel Local 1229, United Steelworkers, who voted for the dues increase at the convention, told The Independent today:

"The Local is aware of the anti-McDonald faction here. However, it is such a small minority of our local that we are not concerned about it at all."

The local group calls itself the "Monessen Committee for Rarick".

Rarick Carries Campaign to Johnstown Area

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Don C. Rarick, candidate for president of the United Steelworkers, carries his campaign to the Johnstown, Pa., steel center tonight in a stepped up drive for rank-and-file support.

David J. McDonald, meanwhile, was in San Francisco for the fourth in a series of conferences between top union officers and regional leaders.

Rarick will address two meetings in Johnstown this evening. On Saturday night he will go to Dunkirk, N.Y., for a rally in a high school auditorium. A rally also is planned for the Pittsburgh district Jan. 26.

McDonald has avoided politics in his talks with leaders in New York and Chicago. He did however, interject some personal comments at the Philadelphia meeting last week when he termed a "scurrilous lie" Rarick's charge that he had been offered a quarter of a million dollar bribe to withdraw from the race.

tional security or essential government services. He said that invitation extends to funds for the armed services.

What will work most strongly against an appreciable budget cut is powerful congressional support for giving Mr. Eisenhower what he wants for U.S. armed forces. Indeed, Congress may again allocate more money than the President has asked for the military.

Congress last year added $900 million to the President's request for the Air Force. But the Budget Bureau only recently gave clearance for its expenditure.

Mr. Eisenhower estimated military spending in fiscal 1958 at $38 billion—the biggest item in the budget. He asked for $3.5 in new money, an increase of $2.1 billion over fiscal 1957.

But athough their expenditures wil be increased, the Air Force and Army will be cut from 133 to 128 wings and from 19 to 17 divisions, respectively. The high cost of powerful new atomic-age weapons accounts for most of the increase in the defense budget.

At New Kensington, the most pitiful cold weather victim was a little dog. Mrs. Elizabeth Parker said she heard a dog yelping in her back yard Wednesday night and when she went out to the animal found iits tail frozen to the ground. She freed the dog and it ran off into the night.

There was a chance of some light snow tonight and early Friday in the state.

The service had been shut off to more than 30,000 residents in the Oswego vicinity due to a gas valve break at Syracuse.

Explosion Kills Three

An explosion in an engine room of the Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Co. at Liberal, Kan., Wednesday night killed three persons and forced a cutback in gas service to industrial users in several midwestern states.

Two persons were killed and two others were missing in an explosion and fire in a two-story building at West Peoria, Ill., Wednesday night.

A $1 million fire at Springfield, Mass., raged out of control for two hours Wednesday and eight firemen were hospitalized for treatment of smoke inhalation.

The biting cold continued to set records, with the mercury diving to a record low of 7 below zero during the night at Columbus, Ohio, and 6 below at Cleveland.

Detroit River Freezes

Temperatures dropped below zero at Detroit for the first time since Dec. 17, 1951. The Detroit River was solidly frozen between Detroit and Windsor, Canada, for the first time in many years, but Coast Guard cutters smashed a channel through the ice.

Chicago shivered in a 4 below reading and it was 3 below at Milwaukee.

The freezing air extended as far south as Texas where early morning readings included 17 at Fort Worth and 18 at Dallas.

New York City, hit by a 3.4-inch snowfall, had a relatively mild high of 27 Wednesday but readings skidded to 14 by early morning.

Some other early morning readings around the nation included Boston 16, Washington 15, St. Louis 10, Minneapolis 2, Bismarck, N.D., 17, New Orleans 32, Denver 19, Seattle 31 and Los Angeles 55.

$60,000 Awarded to Fayette Miner

UNIONTOWN, Pa. (UP) — A civil court jury has awarded Kenneth Clark $60,000 for injuries suffered in a mining accident, the largest award ever granted in a Fayette County personal injury suit.

The jury returned the verdict Wednesday against Arthur Guseman and Robert Smith of the Summit Coal Co., about 10 miles south of here.

Clark, 40, of nearby Lemont Furnace, was injured last March 2 when he was thrown from a tripple by a runaway coal car. The car ran over his right arm.

Britain in Armed Forces Shakeup

Plans Cuts In Defense Spending

LONDON (UP)— Prime Minister Harold Macmillan completed formation of his new conservative government today, concentrating on a shakeup in the armed forces as the prelude to expected sharp cuts in defense spending.

Macmillan's second list of ministers, who serve those under the regular cabinet, included a coal miner who will act as supply minister and a bomber pilot as air secretary.

The new first lord of the admiralty (secretary of the navy), the Earl of Selkirk, got his only military experience in the army.

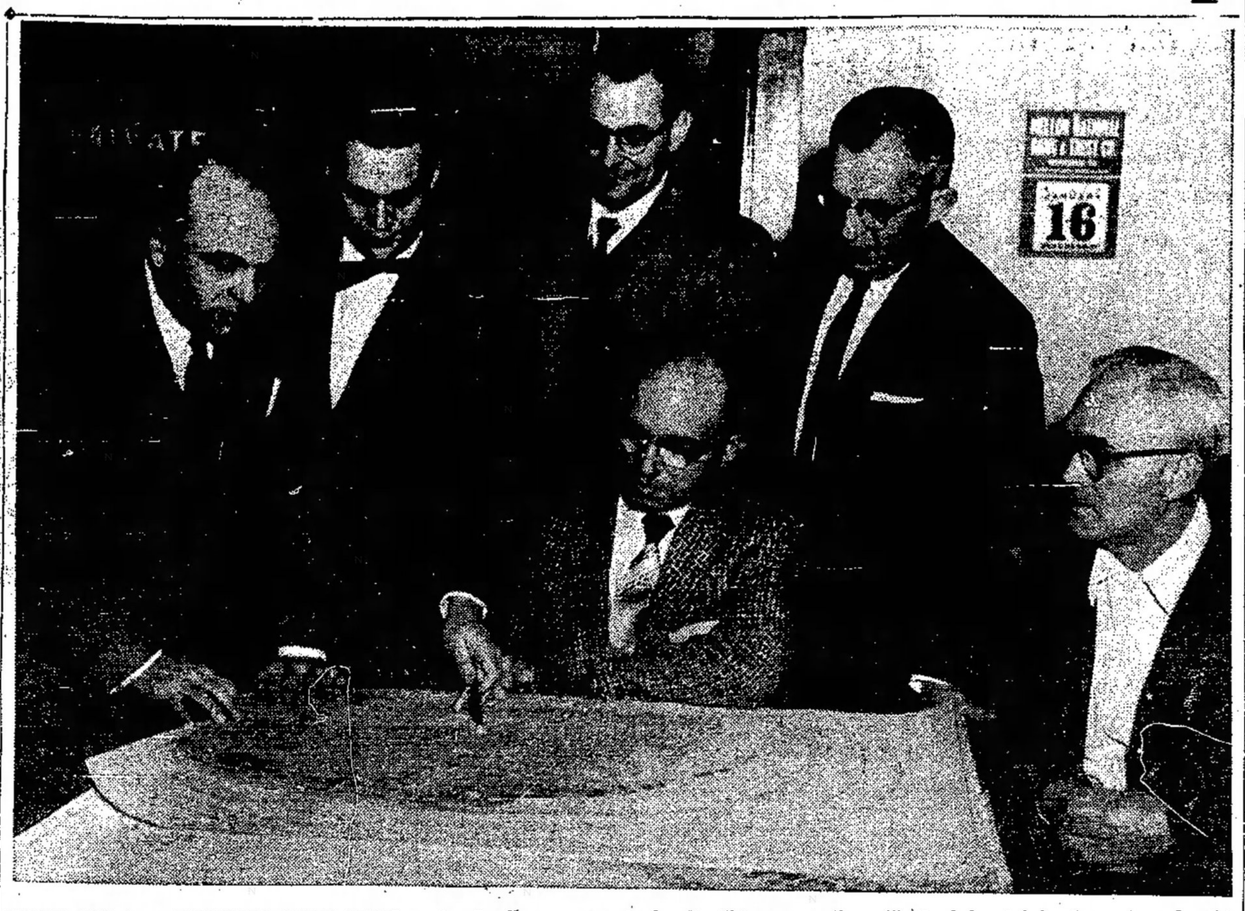
The new military appointees include the 50-year-old Selkirk as first lord of the admiralty; John Hare, 45, war secretary; George Ward, 49, air secretary, and Aubrey Jones, 45, minister of supply in charge of procurement.

Was Undersecretary

Ward was a wartime bomber pilot who served as air undersecretary under Eden and Sir Winston Churchill.

Jones is notable among the aristocratic members of the Macmillan government in that he is a miner's son who left school at 14 to work in the coal pits. He was Eden's minister of fuel and power.

Macmillan's final ministerial list dropped a veteran minister of state from the Foreign Office. He is the Marquess of Reading, who had been right-hand man to Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd since 1953. In his place, Macmillan appointed David Ormsby Gore, 38, a junior official at the Foreign Office since 1951.



STATE OFFICIAL INSPECTS SITES HERE — A. J. Caruso, extreme left, an official with the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency, yesterday afternoon met with members of the Monessen Redevelopment Authority to inspect various unused properties which the Authority hopes to develop. The properties are located in both the eastern and western ends of the City. The Authority is seeking to develop these properties with the help of federal grants under the Urban Redevelopment program. Shown with Caruso, standing l. to r. are Robert Way and Dan Moore, Community Planning representatives and Councilman John Kotch. Seated are Authority members Kenneth Mahan, left, and Roderick Wiseman.

Police Pension Reports Heard at Donora Meeting

Seventeen communities attended a Washington County Borough Association meeting last night in Donora and heard a report on police pensions.

Anthony Karpus, president, conducted the session. He reported that 20 boroughs, of a potential membership of 35, have rejoined the organization for 1957.

L. Walter Coble, insurance actuary from Harrisburg, spoke on the new police pension requirements as set by Act 600 of the last session of Legislature. The provisions become effective Jan. 1, 1958.

Coble said that because each borough has its own problems, the solutions must be answered individually. He pointed out that the present law applies to boroughs having eight or more policemen, but indications are this may be changed by the Legislature to include borough with four or more policemen.

The Act provides a pension plan for police to retire on half-salary at age 60 after 25 years of service. The pension will be financed by the police, the local municipality and funds received from the state as the municipality's share from foreign casualty insurance companies.

The next association meeting will be held in Centerville Feb. 20, with Centerville and Deemston joint hosts.

Overheated Furnace Blamed for Damage

TRAFFORD, Pa. (UP) — An overheated furnace was blamed today for a fire which destroyed the nearby Level Green home of N. Verner Lloyd, supervising principal of South Greensburg schools.

Fire Chief Russell Lydick estimated the loss at $30,000.

Lloyd and his wife, a teacher in the Trafford school system, were away from their two-story frame residence when the blaze erupted Wednesday.

Safety Standards on State Highways Will Be Improved

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader's new Traffic Safety Council has unanimously adopted a series of legislative proposals for improving safety standards on Pennsylvania highways, designed to reduce so-called "runaway" truck accidents.

The council approved a report of its Committee on Enforcement which would require all drivers of commercial vehicles to operate their vehicles in reduced gear and at a speed limit of 20 miles per hour or less on those hills posted every one-eighth mile by the state Highways Department or local authorities.

Violators would be subject to a minimum fine of $50.

Edwin Parkinson, chairman of the council's Legislative Committee, said all proposals which require action by the General Assembly will be drafted into proper form, reviewed by the council for final corrections Feb. 21 and then submitted to the governor.

The council also considered legalization of radar as a medium of law enforcement, with its use restricted to the state police and police in Phiadelphia, Pittsburgh, third class cities and first-class townships.

Among other key recommendations adopted by the council were:

Revocation for one year of the operator's license of any person convicted of possession or sale of narcotics.

The Highways Department improve its standards for marking highways in travel and passing lanes and median delineations, and improve its route and directional signs with emphasis on the use of overhead signs well in advance of intersections and action lanes.

Amend the Motor Vehicle Code to provide a commercial vehicle operator's license and to provide that only holders of such licenses be permitted to operate commercial vehicles of specified type and size.

Require all applicants for learners permits to secure them at a state police examination center, and only after passing a physical fitness test.

Establish probationary drivers' permits for drivers between the ages of 16 and 18 years, with the permits subject to suspension until the holder reaches the age of 18 for violation of the Vehicle Code or rules of the road.

A physical examination certificate accompany applications for renewal of a driver's license.

Labor Group to Support Leader's Civil Service Plan

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Pennsylvania Federation of Labor today announced its support of the state administration's proposal to extend civil service coverage among Commonwealth employes.

PFL President Joseph A. McDonough said the federation had "repeatedly enunciated its strong support for civil service coverage for state employes, in every branch of state service, excluding only those who exercise policy making functions."

Gov. George M. Leader has strongly urged civil service job security for the state government's professional and technical personnel. Leader asked the General Assembly to tone down the patronage system and extend civil service to mental health, highway, educational and other phases of the government.

State Senate Minority Leader John H. Dent (D-Westmoreland) opposed the recommendations as "leading to the destruction of democratic government as we know it."

McDonough said federation members "reject the theory that the prospect of reward for political success through the spoils system is necessary to the most efficient functioning of the democratic process in government." He said the organization felt the spoils system was a "degrading apparatus."

Hitchcock Is Patient

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — British movie director Alfred Hitchcock underwent a hernia operation today at Cedors of Lebanon Hospital.

Consumer Prices At Record High

NEW YORK (UP)—The wholesale food price index as measured by the Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., index on Jan. 15, showed a three cent rise from the previous week, the agency reported today.

The current index of $6.13 compared with $6.10 last week and $5.86 in the same week a year ago, a gain of 4.6 per cent above last year.

Two Killed in Auto Accident

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio (UP) —A steelworker from Midland, Pa., and his three-year-old daughter were killed Wednesday when their automobile went out of control here and crashed into a building.

The victims were Americo Barney, 36, and his daughter, Linda Lee. They were killed instantly.

Police said Barney lost control of the car on Pennsylvania Ave., a section of State Highway 39 leading into downtown East Liverpool. The vehicle sheared a utility pole and crashed into the building of the Shell Heating Co.

The crash disrupted electric power service for a short time.

Civic Music Members Have Pleasant Evening

Members of the Monessen-Belle Vernon Civic Music were given a pleasant evening last night by an uninhibited young pianist, Stan Freeman.

Playing a program that ranged from a Mozart sonata to some urbane kidding of the rock-and-roll vogue, Freeman succeeded in being highly entertaining. And the audience seemed to enjoy it thoroughly.

The first half of the program was devoted to "serious" music, including some familiar classics of Mozart, Chopin and Debussy. The latter's "Clair de Lune", a favorite with most audiences, was done without the soapy sentimentality which one often hears.

Freeman displayed a high order of technical achievement in this portion of the program.

The period following the intermission was given over to popular music for the most part, interspersed with some tricky musicianship and witty patter about modern music. The artist even broke into song at several points and the audience got many a laugh from some of his "original" compositions.

Freeman played some Gershwin and Rodgers and Hammerstein medlies with real flare, and his rendition of "Rhapsody in Blue", with which he closed his program, was thoroughly appreciated.

He responded with several encores.

The next number of the Civic Music series will be heard Thursday, Feb. 28. At that time, the "Singing Boys of Norway", under the direction of Ragnvald Bjarne, will appear at the High School auditorium. This group, which has an international reputation, is making a second American tour following a smashing success in 1952.

Riesel Considers Surgery on Eyes

NEW YORK (UP)—Labor columnist Victor Riesel, blinded last April by an acid-hurling hoodlum, today was considering surgery which he has been told may partially restore sight in his right eye.

Riesel, whose syndicated column appears in the New York Daily Mirror and other newspapers, disclosed Wednesday night that British surgeons recently told him that a series of operations may at least restore perception of light. They stressed that Riesel would never be able to read again, but might at least be able to distinguish some objects.

K of C in Regular Meeting

Reports on various planned activities were given last night at the meeting of Monessen Council 954 Knights of Columbus in the council rooms on Schoonmaker avenue. The Rev. Theodore Bankovic gave the opening prayer and Grand Knight Louis J. Smith presided.

Julius Treater gave routine reports and Nello Tineri reported on the square dance club being formed by the council. A practice session was held recently and another one is scheduled for Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. Percy J. Moussiaux reported on the youth activity program.

Henry D'Alonzo announced plans for a fish fry to be held in the near future.

Game Feb. 6

Charles Niehaus, who will be in charge of the ushers for the coming basketball game between the Harlem Globe Trotters and House of David, explained the planned seating schedule in the Monessen High School gymnasium and instructed the ushers as to their duties. The game will be played, Feb. 6, and Joseph Gouger is general chairman.

Father Benkovic was guest speaker and during his talk he thanked the council for the use of the rooms for the Christmas mass held for the Croatian congregation.

The next meeting was set for Feb. 3 at 8 p. m. instead of the regular night, Feb. 6, due to the basketball game. John DuLuca won the meeting award and a social hour followed.

Nautilus Sails 55,000 Miles

WASHINGTON (UP)—The atomic submarine Nautilus is scheduled to be refueled for the first time this spring after sailing more than 55,000 miles in two years on its original load of nuclear power.

The Navy announced the refueling date Wednesday night on the eve of the anniversary of man's first propulsion by atomic power two years ago. The Nautilus got underway on nuclear power for the first time Jan. 17, 1955, at Groton, Conn.

In the refueling, the uranium core of the Nautilus' reactor will be removed and a new core of enriched uranium installed. The old core will be sent to a reactor test station at Arco, Idaho, for "examination and to reclaim unused uranium."

Kills Doctor and Then Himself

DALY CITY, Calif. (UP)—The lives of two women were shattered today because of a crazed man's impulse to violence that cost two lives—that of a prominent San Francisco doctor and his own.

The doctor was Robert Gilles de Mailly, 39, a French count by inheritance from his father, and through his mother the scion of a prominent California family. He was an obstetrician.

De Mailly died in his office at Westlake Medical Center Wednesday as the result of two bullets fired by Michael J. Kepp, 64, agent for a moving firm. Kepp then took his own life.

But before firing a bullet into his mouth, Krepp tried also to kill his estranged wife, Ruth, 53, who was De Mailly's receptionist.

Mrs. Kepp had separated from her husband late last year after 15 years of marriage. She had been living with the De Mailly family at their home in San Francisco's fashionable Presidio Heights district until she got her divorce.

Mrs. Kepp had told friends she was afraid of her husband. One friend said:

"Mike said she'd never live to enjoy her freedom. We thought he was kidding."

Mrs. Kepp was under treatment today at Children's Hospital in San Francisco for a serious arm wound.

De Mailly's widow, the former Diane Lamont Beersman of a prominent New York family, had to be put under a doctor's care when she learned of the tragedy. She is the mother of a 2½-year-old child and is expecting a second child next month.

Admiral Admits 'Flying Saucers'

WASHINGTON (UP)—A new scientific organization has asked the public to be on the lookout for "unidentified flying objects" apparently piloted by "intelligent beings" entering the earth's atmosphere.

Rear Adm. Delmer S. Fahrney (Ret.) urged the public to send reports on unidentified flying objects to a new organization known as the National Investigations Committee on Aerial Phenomena. Fahrney is chairman of the group. He said Wednesday the objects move at speeds which cannot be duplicated by the United States and Russia.

Fahrney is a pioneer in the development of controlled aircraft and guided missiles for the Navy. He has been commended for his work by the Bureau of Aeronautics.

Fahrney said the committee, an independent non - profit organization, would encourage formation of flying saucer clubs across the nation to supply trained observers. Reports from them, he said, would be analyzed by the committee with cooperation of leading scientists.

He said many observers have stopped reporting to the Air Force on such objects because "all the information is going in and none coming out."

Fahrney said observers have estimated speeds of some flying objects at up to 12,000 miles an hour.

"The state of technology in this country and Russia today would not permit duplication of the high speeds and terrific acceleration" he said. "It's apparent that these objects are directed by intelligent beings because of the manner in which they maneuver."

Erie Steel Corp. Plans Expansion

ERIE, Pa. (UP)—Erie Forge and Steel Corp. today announced a $4 million expansion and modernization program which will more than double the firm's steelmaking capacity.

Emil H. Lang, president of Erie Forge, said one of the chief features of expansion will be installation of a 75-ton electric steel furnace and construction of a modern factory. Work will start immediately.

World Pays Tribute to the Maestro, Arturo Toscanini

NEW YORK (UP) — The world paid mournful tribute today to the Maestro.

Arturo Toscanini died in his sleep Wednesday morning at his home, the Villa Pauline, in the Riverdale section of the Bronx.

The world-famed conductor's body will lie in state today after 1:30 p.m. EST until Saturday when a Solemn Requiem Mass will be offered for him at St. Patrick's Cathedral. He will be flown to Milan, Italy, for burial.

Heads of state and leaders in the music world expressed their sorrow at the death of the tailor's son who became a symbol of music during a career that spanned more than half a century.

President Eisenhower expressed his deep regret at the death of the Maestro. In a statement, Mr. Eisenhower said:

"I have learned with deep regret of the death of Arturo Toscanini. As man and as musician he gained the admiration of the world. He spoke in the universal language of music but he also spoke in the language of free men everywhere. The music he created and the hatred of tyranny that was his, are part of the legacy of our time."

The Maestro was mourned from the La Scala Opera House in Milan, the scene of his greatest early triumphs, to New York, where Toscanini put down his baton for the last time three years ago.

The Italian flag was lowered to half staff at the La Scala Opera House and the orchestra stopped its rehearsal for one minute of silent tribute.

In New York Wednesday night Dimitri Mitropolous conducted the orchestra at the Metropolitan Opera in one of Toscanini's favorite operas. The audience spontaneously rose and stood in silence as the orchestra began the Prelude to the Fourth Act of Verdi's "La Traviata."

Toscanini had lived in strict retirement since 1935 in his luxurious home overlooking the Hudson River.

He conducted his last concert in public April 4, 1954 in Carnegie Hall. He led the NBC Symphony Orchestra through the "Die Meistersinger" overture, dropped his baton from his hand, and walked off the stage for the last time.

Natural Gas Firms Plan for Record Expansion

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Natural gas companies will spend a record $52,228,050 to expand and improve their service to 975,000 customers in Western Pennsylvania during 1957.

The Pennsylvania Natural Gas Men's Assn. said today the biggest share of the capital expansion outlay will go for drilling of new wells and enlargement of distribution facilities.

The association said $16,380,000, nearly one third, was allotted for additions and enlargements of distribution systems — the low-pressure gas mains under streets which feed gas to homes and stores.

Searching for new natural gas pools and drilling of production wells in the Appalachian area of Western Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Kentucky will take another $13,749,000. That sum, however, represents less than half the amount that will be spent on well-drilling since it does not include outlays of independent drillers and producers.

Additional transmission facilities will take $13,512,900: underground storage $5,797,900: and miscellaneous (offices, warehouses, etc) $2,788,250.

Johnstown Area Employment Up

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (UP)— The employment situation in the Johnstown area has improved greatly in the last month due to resumption of almost regular work schedules at soft coal mines, a State Employment Security survey showed today.

Joseph R. Casale, manager of the SES office here, said miners still account for about two thirds of the 1,500 persons on short work weeks here whereas a month ago 8,500 miners were on part-time schedules.

Casale said the employment situation was aided by a substantial increase in the supply of railroad cars at mine tipples.

Flees Woman Driver

LOS ANGELES (UP)— Norman Opstad was stopped Wednesday when he said he attempted to escape from a woman driver. His car struck a house, veered into a parked car, rolled onto the sidewalk, and smashed a traffic signal.

Union Officials Told To Help in Probe

WASHINGTON (UP) — Senate investigators today ordered three balky union officials to cooperate in a congressional investigation of labor racketeering or take the consequences.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark), summoning the trio for public testimony before his Senate investigating subcommittee, said he had advised the officials that continued refusal to cooperate might have a "very serious" aftermath. Although McClellan said he did not specify it, the statement held the threat of a congressional contempt action.

The three union officials — two from the West Coast and one from New York City — rebuffed the committee Wednesday when it started its widely heralded inquiry behind closed doors. The opening day session also saw Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell give his blessing to an "objective" investigation of labor racketeering.

McClellan said Mitchell did so in testifying on the Labor Department's machinery for dealing with false statements from unions and their officers. Spokesmen for the National Labor Relations Board and the Internal Revenue Bureau testified on the same subject.

All three agencies, McClellan said, stated that they are "without power" to challenge the veracity of financial and other statements filed by unions. They "invited" congressional action to strengthen their hands, McClellan said.

The three union officials who became the investigation's first witnesses were Frank W. Brewster, head of the Western Conference of Teamsters and spokesman for the union's Joint Council 28 in Seattle, Nugent Laporna — also known as George Cavano — head of Teamsters Local 174 in Seattle, and Arthur Santa Maria, secretary-treasurer of New York City Local 227 of the Allied Industrial Workers of America.

Wholesale Food Prices Increase

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UP) —Consumer prices rose to a record high in Pennsylvania last year, Penn State's Bureau of Business Research reported today.

Retail food costs for 1956 were 1.1 per cent over the previous year and farm and manufactured products also showed increases.

Coal Output to Reach Billion Ton Mark in '57

NEW YORK (UP)— Output of the nation's coal mines should reach the billion ton a year mark by 1975, an industry executive has predicted.

J. P. Routh, chairman of the board of Pittston Co., said a new export market for potentially 100 million tons annually is being opened for the coal-producing regions of Virginia, West Virginia and eastern Kentucky.

He told members of the Society of Security Analysts Tuesday the day would come when the source of all energy, including oil, gas and nuclear reactors, would be based on a foundation of coal which will be processed to produce economically supplies of oil, gas and raw materials for a great new chemical industry.

The nation's coal mines produced 600 million tons in 1947 and an average 390 million tons in each of the seven years through 1954. By 1975, he said, the minimum output would be 800 million tons.

The Pittston executive said the industry would meet competition from oil and natural gas and, eventually, from nuclear reactors "through startling developments in automation." He did not elaborate on this point.

A Middle-of-the-Road Budget

THE BUDGET which President Eisenhower submitted to Congress yesterday seems in general to fit the pattern of progressive conservatism which has characterized his administration. This, in other words, is a middle-of-the-road budget.

The conservative members of Congress, in both parties, are not going to like the budget except for the saving grace that it is balanced. But it contemplates too much spending for their tastes and it permits no general reduction of federal taxes. The direction of federal finances, they will say, is still wrong.

By the same token, the budget will not please the liberals. They will be saying that, although the budget calls for an all-time high level of federal spending, there is still not enough — for agriculture, for foreign aid, for schools and hospitals and all the rest. They will accuse the administration of caring more about balancing the budget than it cares for social progress, et cetera.

Consequently, if it is still Mr. Eisenhower's purpose to chart a course between the extremes of American political and economic philosophies, his budget does that rather well. And it may, as a result, be generally satisfactory to the majority of citizens.

* * *

HOWEVER, one pervading fact about the finances of the government in this period of history needs to be kept constantly before us. And that is the awful cost of the measures being taken to avoid war and to protect the nation if war should come.

President Eisenhower is proposing that the government spend nearly $72 billion in the 1957-58 fiscal year. But about three-fifths of this amount represents the cost of maintaining our armed forces and of the military and economic aid which we plan to continue to give to other countries largely on the ground that it is in the interest of our own security to do so.

So a conservative congressman who thinks the budget is too high and should be cut ought to be prepared to justify a cut in defense expenditures if he expects the public to take his criticisms seriously.

Likewise, a congressman who thinks more should be spent for farm programs or school buildings must recommend either that the defense expenditures be reduced or that taxes be increased. For there is arithmetic, as well as political philosophy, involved in the budget-making process; and arithmetic does not allow very much area for debate.

What the President must do, then, in submitting a budget is to arrive at some kind of balance among the multitude of pressures which are exerted on the government's resources. He cannot provide everything everybody wants or even all that the country may actually need. He must establish a schedule of priorities for these needs and wants and make a judgment as to the ability and willingness of the taxpayers to meet his schedule.

Our impression, without looking very closely at the fine print, is that President Eisenhower has done a sound job in this instance. Certainly, the weight which he gives to the requirements of defense seems to us entirely justified.

The Expected Happens

IT HAS BEEN no secret for a long time now that the once-rich coal fields of this area are approaching depletion. Except for the war period, we have seen employment and production at most of the major mines going down, down, down. Many of them have been closed for good and the towns around them consigned to the ghosts.

But familiar as these episodes have become, there seems to be no lessening of the surprise and bewilderment when a new one occurs.

Last week, for example, Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. announced that it is closing Vesta No. 4, near California, Pa., which years ago employed 2,500 miners but recently has employed fewer than 800. But even though everybody — and most of all the miners themselves — has been conscious of the approach of the inevitable, the only question being when it would come, the announcement is received as if there had been no warning at all.

It does not seem to be in the nature of one-indutry communities to look ahead farther than a few months. Some, indeed, do not seem to look beyond the next payday.

Yet it is so obvious that such communities, should use their periods of prosperity to fortify themselves against possible adversity. And why more of them have not done so and are not now doing so makes an interesting problem in community psychology.

To get a little closer home: how many businessmen in Moness., may we ask, have still not made substantia contributions to the Monongahela Valley Area dustrial Enterprises, Inc., which has a plan buttressing the economic security of this immediate neighborhood?

Ike Should Send Harry To India

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Now that President Eisenhower has told his staff he will not accept Prime Minister Nehru's invitation to visit India, and now that Harry Truman has come so emphatically to the support of Ike's Near East doctrine it might be a good time for some Presidential reciprocity.

Mr. Pearson

In brief, now is the time for Truman to be drafted to take a good-will trip to India and southeast Asia.

This suggestion is not made for the purpose of glorifying Mr. Truman, but because the status of American prestige in Southeast Asia is not good, also because American envoys in that area have been urging the State Department to send a top-level American as a good-will ambassador.

Just as the Queen of England, Princess Margaret and the Duke of Edinburgh are kept busy visiting various parts of the world, so the United States must necessarily send distinguished citizens on good-will tours.

Russians Hailed

Bulganin and Khrushchev got a tremendous reception when they visited India, Burma, Pakistan and Afghanistan, but nothing of moment has been done since then to counteract their success. Secretary Dulles did make a trip to this area — with little or no benefit. The Burmese government even refused to let him land on their territory.

Last year Mr. Truman took a trip on his own to Western Europe, got a tremendous reception, made a lot of friends for the USA. He has a knack of rubbing shoulders with the man on the street in a way that sells democracy. He was also the first to initiate the Marshall Plan and the Point Four program, which helped save Asiatic countries from Communism in the post-war years.

However, when Truman's name is mentioned around the White House it evokes sour remarks from the present incumbent. Ike had been bitter at Harry ever since the 1952 campaign when the ex-President criticized Eisenhower's handling of Russian affairs in Berlin immediately after V-E Day.

Politics being politics, however, the President should learn that a lot of things that happen in the heat of a campaign must be forgotten afterward. And he would give a real boost to the free world's fight against Communism if he sent his predecessor to Asia on a good-will mission.

Knowland's Merry-Go-Round

The political pot is still boiling as a result of Sen. Bill Knowland's bow-out of the Senate. Here are some of the brews being concocted: Gov. Goodie Knight of California is being talked about as Secretary of Labor. Knight is one of the few Republican governors who have won friends among labor. His promotion to the Labor Department would pave the way for Knowland to run for Governor. Vice President Nixon wouldn't favor this, but some of the men around Ike would like to stave off a split with the Knowland-GOP conservaties. . . Jim Mitchell, able Secretary of Labor, wanted to resign, but has agreed to stay on for the time being. Not a man of wealth, Mitchell has a hard time making both ends meet in Washington, probably will bow out before the next four years.

Immediately after Knowland's announcement, Robert Kirkwood, California comptroller, phoned him to ask his OK to run for the Senate. Knowland gave the OK. . . Nixon forces may put a man in the GOP primary race against Kirkwood — possibly Congressman Pat Hillings. Strategy would do to block Knowland forces from putting their man, Kirkwood, into the Senate. . . . If Nixon lets Knowland get too firm a grip on California, he's a dead duck in his race for President in 1960. Nixon is certain to face some primary races, can hardly escape a primary showdown in California. The Knowland machine could probably beat him. . . Democrats are gloating over the Republican furor in California. With Republicans split, they regard the Senate seat as theirs. It looks so promising that Pat Brown, popular attorney general who has his eyes on the governorship, might run for the Senate instead. Other Democratic candidates are: Alan Cranston, head of the California Democratic Council; Dick Richards, who made a good race last November; and Congressman Cecil King. Cranston has the advantage of being from the north and heading the Democratic outfit that endorses the candidates.

Behind a Couple of Eight Balls

Today and Tomorrow—

Concerning Tight Money

By WALTER LIPPMANN

There is an overriding condition in our domestic affairs which is that our economy, though enormously productive as compared with any that has ever existed, is still not productive enough for all the demands made upon it. With full employment there is not enough labor, and with the basic industries in full production there are serious shortages in critical goods. Labor and the materials do not exist to supply the total demand.

Mr. Lippmann

The economy cannot produce all that consumers want to buy, plus all that corporations would like to spend and to borrow for capital goods, plus all that the federal government needs to spend on defense and its welfare measures, plus all that the state and local governments are being pressed to spend on schools, hospitals, roads, recreation and other public works.

Although the American economy is growing prodigously, it is not growing fast enough to keep up with the growth of the population, with the rapid rise in what Americans have come to expect as their proper standard of living, and with the expanding commitments and responsibilities of the United States, which is now the only real great power in the non-Communist world. This is a rich and productive country, but the American economy is strained and under severe inflationary pressure.

The Credit Problem

This situation raises two major problems of national policy. The one, which is well known and generally understood, is the problem of combatting inflation — that is to say, of managing the supply of money and credit so that the total demand for goods and services is kept in balance with the supply.

But insofar as we solve the fundamental problem of preventing inflation, we run into a second problem which is not so well understood. About it there are many differing views among the experts and authorities. This is the problem of how to allocate the reduced supply of credit. It is a problem of how to ration credit as between the stronger borrowers, like the big corporations, and the weaker borrowers like home builders; and as between public borrowing, say, for schools, and private borrowing, as for office buildings.

The President showed in his message that he is acutely aware of the primary problem, which is how to combat inflation. Besides exhorting business and labor to practice self-discipline, the federal government has two main ways of reducing the inflationary pressure. One is for the government itself to spend less than it takes in taxes, and to budget not for a mere balance but for a surplus.

But in fact not much can be done with the budget to combat inflation. The new budget is expected to show only a small surplus, and one can say that if this is the best that George Humphrey can do in a period of abounding prosperity, no one else is likely to do so much in any other time.

Check on Spending

The fact is that about the best the federal government can do is to keep expenditures from rising as fast as they might. With our growing population and our growing public needs at home and abroad, there is no prospect of reduction in public spending.

The real burden of combatting inflation rests on the Federal Reserve Board because of its power to expand or to contract the volume of money that the banks are able to lend. The Federal Reserve Board has been using its power with great courage and true public spirit. The result is the famous tight money policy, and to that policy the country owes the fact that the inflationary rise in prices is being held down to moderate proportions.

But as the tight money policy takes effect, the second problem arises. This is the problem of the allocation of the reduced supply of credit among the various interests, public and private, who want to borrow. The allocation today is made by the financial markets, and as the supply of credit is less than the demand, the price of credit, that is to say the rate of interest, is rising. This means that those who can afford to pay the most get the most credit. Credit is expensive and scarce for the weaker interest, for small businessmen, for families in need of mortgages to build homes, and for states and localities needing to borrow for public works.

Ike Wants Inquiry

Although he did not say so specifically, it is probably fair to assume that this problem was in the President's mind when in his message to Congress he spoke of the need for a broad inquiry into the adequacy of our financial institutions. There is much complaint in Congress on behalf of farmers and businessmen about the allocation of credit as between them and the big corporations. The problem of allocation is posed even more sharply for the states and localities which need to issue bonds for schools, roads, and other public works. They are finding that the high interest rate and the tight money policy are a great burden.

Mr. Arthur Levitt, the Comptroller of New York State, has, for example, pointed out that the cost of borrowing to finance the building of schools has very nearly doubled since 1952. This is a very serious thing. It is a brutal fact which interferes greatly with the ideal theory that the localities should meet public needs, like the need for schools, hospitals, low cost housing, roads and public recreation.

It is easier to pose the problem than to solve it. But this much at least is clear. We must resist inflation. We must therefore keep the supply of credit lower than the total needs and wishes of private interests and authorities. But having done that, we must examine the question whether, in the competition of the financial market, the public interest in schools and other public works is adequately taken care of.

If it is not, as almost certainly it is not, then we shall have to devise remedies.

Drought Trip Shows Ike in Good Shape

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

TUCSON, Ariz. — If anything were needed to show President Eisenhower's recouped vigor and stamina, this three-day, 4,600 mile, seven-stop, dawn to dusk drought trip has done it.

Few people, I suspect, think much about the President's health any more or are very concerned about it. What an exacting trip like this does is not so much reassure the country that the President is well recovered, but reassures Mr. Eisenhower himself that when the going gets rough he does not have to spare himself much, if at all.

Mr. Drummond

He has not been sparing himself on this far-ranging inspection of the parched and dust blown drought-land of the Great Plains. Compared with the routine in the White House, however eventful, this has been a strenuous ordeal, an almost continuous succession of two to six hour flights, motor travel after landing to some of the most blighted sections, repeated conferences with local officials and an early morning take-off to begin it all over. Last year's political campaigning was slow motion compared with this.

Ike's Recent Race

The question which concerns us all is whether, in the wake of his recovery from his heart attack and his ileitis operation, Mr. Eisenhower can maintain the pace necessary to discharge the exacting, stressful, never ending responsibilities of the White House.

It seems to me that the President's recent and current schedule is more reassuring than the most optimistic medical report: (1) Long, critical conversations with Nehru of India; (2) Preparation of State of the Union message, the budget and (3) Two days of meetings with the legislative leaders: budget message, and economic report; (4) Formulation of new Middle East policy; (5) Two personal appearances before Congress in five days; (6) And now 19 hours in the air from Sunday afternoon to Tuesday night, seven conferences with drought experts in two days and not much sleep in between.

This agenda of duties, decisions, consultations and heavy travel suggests that Mr. Eisenhower does not have to favor himself inordinately; in fact, quite the opposite. He shows no ill effects, no serious strain. He had no opportunity to rest up for this particularly hectic trip. It followed hard on the opening of Congress which is never a placid period.

It is fair to conclude, I think, that the President is strong and resilient and that he has now demonstrated to his own satisfaction that he can not only maintain his normal schedule but can step it up strenuously whenever circumstances require without riskful strain.

As this trip illustrates, there is no longer any tendency to put down the President's workload nor to shield him from hard issues and controversial inner-administration debate which must precede high level decisions. For several months after his heart attack and for several weeks after the ileitis operation, the White House staff and members of the cabinet shrunk from blunt discussion in his presence lest it precipitate a relapse.

Calmer than Before

This period is now completely passed. Always a tense and dynamic person, Mr. Eisenhower is calmer than he used to be and my information is that there is no longer any hesitation among the leading members of the cabinet and the National Security Council to draw him into whatever sharp controversy is necessary to explore and resolve alternative choices of policy.

I have heard it argued that nobody in the administration will talk up to Mr. Eisenhower either because they are awed of him or because they think it might set off another heart attack. That is not my understanding of the facts. In cabinet and NSC meetings, the President presses for all sides of an argument and I know of no knowledgeable member of the cabinet who is afraid to speak his mind.

In any event Mr. Eisenhower is standing this hectic drought trip better than most of the correspondents

Absence of Manners Reveals Character

By MARGARET LATROBE

From the mail comes this question, "Have men forsaken the art or custom of tipping their hats to women, or have they just quit wearing hats?"

(Or maybe they don't meet women acquaintances on the street as often, these days!) Sunday afternoon promenades used to give mannerly gents a hat-tipping opportunity now gone the way of golf, a drive in the country, making spoon racks in the basement workshop. Or maybe just a long nap, bracing the boys against the morrow — Monday.

Mrs. Latrobe

As for wearing hats, haven't you noticed that the gentlemen incline toward hats (plural) instead of that old stained felt mitten-like sombrero they once clung to 10 years, without respite? (So far as I know, Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt is the only fellow who can afford to wear the same brown bonnet here, there and everywhere for lo these too many decades. But old though his hat be, I'm pretty sure he tips it politely to ladies. Probably bows, as well.) Some chaps are bareheaded in snowstorms, but that's the "man" of it. Let them take off for fishing, golfing, driving downtown or just hammering up that loose screen — and they have a hat for the job. Plaid caps, red caps, white caps. Tyrolean, Texan, or straw madcaps from Mexico — hats they like.

If they have lost the art or custom of tipping same, put it down to a society which places far too much emphasis on "natural" behavior than on civilized behavior. You feel cross and ugly? By all means stomp around and let those feelings show! You have no liking for the lady approaching you on the sidewalk? Clamp the cigar firmly, muttering Hiya, Toots. Don't be merely rude, when with a little effort you can qualify as a real boor.

It seems to me that close acquaintance with any good book of etiquette would be an excellent antidote for some of the behavior problems we observe. Good manners are based on consideration for others; they aren't intended as substitutes to be used in place of genuine kindness and goodwill. Good manners have been considered hypocrisy by rebels against any code of conduct. "Pretense, dandified nonsense. Any fool can tip his hat, any shrew can curtsey. Good manners are shallow devices of snobs. Let's just be ourselves, eh?"

In being ourselves, we show our manners — good or bad. In our treatment of others (which is all there is to good manners) we indicate all too clearly what selection we have made — in values, in taste, in the choices that form our personalities. Manners are more basic than knowing an oyster fork from a nut pick. While manners are largely acquired by learning, they must be from the heart to be genuine. While it is possible for outright knaves to learn and practice good manners, I imagine their efforts are better spent thus than if allowed to follow their "natural" bent toward greed, selfishness and disregard of others.

Have men rejected the custom of tipping their hats, as just not worth the bother? I hope not. It's an indication and tribute to civilized behavior. It's evidence that men think well of women — and more important yet, that they think well of themselves. It's good manners — which may not tell what you are, but whose absence certainly tells what you are not!

Recent Survey Is Made for Girl Scouts

Mrs. Edward Dawson has received for local Girl Scout leaders and Council members a report of a survey made public by the Girl Scouts of America on Tuesday.

The survey was conducted for the Girl Scouts by the Survey Research Center of the University of Michigan's Institute for Social Research and was directed by Dr. Elizabeth Douvan and was under the supervision of Dr. Stephen Withey, program director at the center.

The findings indicated that adolescent girls are resolving the conflict between homemaking and career. They plan to continue their education and work for a time before marrying. They also want white collar jobs for themselves and their husbands. Only 7 percent wish to marry men who work in factories, on farms or in a trade or craft. This was the first such survey conducted concerning girls in the 11-18 group. About 2000 girls were questioned.

The second part of the survey was concerned directly with Girl Scouts and their program. This is not yet completed, however it contains pertinent facts dealing with girls in the adolescent age, their relationships with their parents, friends, teachers and other adults that they come in contact with.

Hot Breads Are Popular Main Dish or Dessert

Everybody loves a hot bread, whether for breakfast, lunch or dinner. Even yeast doughs can be used nowadays if not in too much of a hurry.

Sweet rolls are in the coffeecake class, and a butter-ball cake might be said to be a compromise between rolls and cake. The baking time may be reduced to about half that indicated in the recipe. This type of coffeecake or roll will serve very well as dessert.

Among the new products of interest is a combination of everything for a genuine Italian pizza. For this, the little package of dry yeast is dissolved in lukewarm water, the flour mixture is stirred in and pressed together before it is allowed to rise in a warm place, 20 minutes. This is then ready to be pressed into a large piepan that should measure about ten inches.

Then it is covered with tomato sauce, a can of which accompanies the package, and baked in a hot oven about 20 minutes. Sprinkle grated cheese or cover with sliced cheese or Italian sausage before baking.

Even more quickly prepared are the frozen pizzas which are all ready for the oven. These come in different sizes and can be topped with other savories before baking.

BUTTER-BALL COFFEECAKE

2 packages dry active yeast
1-3 cup warm water
1 egg, well beaten
½ cup evaporated milk
1-3 cup lukewarm water
2 tablespoons melted butter
3 cups sifted flour
¾ tablespoon salt
¼ teaspoon mace
¼ cup sugar
2 tablespoons melted butter
½ cup mixed sugar and cinnamon
½ cup chopped walnuts
¼ cup seedless raisins

Dissolve yeast in 1-3 cup warm water. Combine beaten egg, milk, 1-3 cup lukewarm water and 2 tablespoons melted butter. Add dissolved yeast and mix well. Combine flour, salt, mace and sugar and stir into yeast mixture. Knead on lightly floured board until smooth and place in well-greased bowl, turning once to bring greased side up. Cover and let rise in warm place until double in bulk, about 1 hour. Punch down, cut dough into small pieces, and roll into 40 walnut-size balls. Roll each ball in melted butter, then in cinnamon-sugar. Place one layer of 20 balls in well-greased 8-inch springform pan so balls barely touch, leaving a small space in the middle. Sprinkle with half the walnuts and raisins. Make top layer of remaining balls and sprinkle with rest of walnuts and raisins. Pour on remaining balls and and cinnamon-sugar. Let rise about 45 minutes or until not quite double in bulk. Bake in slow oven (325 degrees F.) 40 to 45 minutes.

YOUR FOOD PROBLEM

By Edith M. Barber

FAVORITE SMALL CAKE for guests and family: luscious chocolaty brownies, thickly frosted with crunchy filberts.

New Brownie Recipe Adds To Texture and Flavor

By this time, the Christmas cookies have undoubtedly all been devoured. We have found them so useful to have on hand to serve at home luncheons, or to slip into the lunch box after the children returned to school.

They have solved the problem of what to serve when friends have dropped in for tea. Now that they are gone, we will find it worthwhile to make a new supply. This time, however, we are more likely to choose a cake type of cooky that can be baked in a sheet and cut into squares after it is partially or completely cool.

Edith Barber

While a recipe for brownies will not be found in great-grandmother's cookbook, these rich little chocolate-flavored sweets have been popular ever since some clever cook developed a recipe for them a good many years ago. Many a young cook who may be a grandmother herself today may have triumphantly produced brownies as her first experience in baking.

Walnuts, pecans or filberts, which are now becoming one of our popular domestic nuts, are all suitable to use for brownies. The latter nuts make an attractive garnish in addition to providing special texture and flavor.

By the way, flavor is developed by baking the shelled nuts ten minutes or so in a moderately hot oven.

FILBERT-FROSTED BROWNIES

2 squares unsweetened chocolate
1-3 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
¾ cup sifted flour
½ teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
2 tablespoons cream
¾ cup coarsely chopped filberts

Melt together chocolate and 1-3 cup shortening over hot water. Remove from heat and beat in 1 cup sugar and eggs. Sift dry ingredients together and stir into egg mixture. Spread in well-greased 8-inch square pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degree F.) about 30 to 35 minutes, or until top crust has dulled appearance. Cool slightly. Blend together 2 tablespoons butter or margarine and brown sugar. Stir in cream and filberts. Spread nut mixture over top of brownies, then place under broiler about 5 inches from heat. broiler about 5 inches from heat. topping bubbles and begins to brown. Remove from heat, cool and cut into squares.

Barnes, Currie Both Get Contracts

Jeannette's Markley Barnes and Charleroi's Rab Currie, rival coaches in the 1956 WPIAL football title game, received new three-year contracts on the same night this week from their respective school boards. However there's little similarity in the salary tag attached to each. Barnes will get $1,000 per year for coaching while Currie will make almost twice that much . . . And in case you're interested, Currie receives $1,350 as Charleroi athletic director while Barnes earns a "mere" $500 for the same duties . . . All of which would seem to indicate that Currie will NOT starve over the next three year period. A tireless worker, Rab will earn every penny, though, as far as man hours are concerned.

* * *

Speaking of the coaching situation at Jeannette, an interesting debate took place at the school board meeting during which all of the Jayhawk assistants were rehired. Two of the directors wanted all of the coaching jobs thrown open for new applications, arguing that the positions were left vacant when existing contracts expired. They claimed it was unfair to other teachers in the school system not to give them a crack at the coaching roles. This type of thinking was defeated by a 5-2 vote and all assistant coaches were rehired at salaries ranging from $250 to $500.

Twin Brothers Match Cage Strategy

When Latrobe High whipped Hempfield, 59-46, in basketball the other night, twin brothers matched coaching strategy. Ralph Forquer directed Latrobe while his look-alike twin, Ray Forquer, piloted Hempfield. Both coaches stand six feet even and both weigh about 200. They are 34 . . . The current issue of Sporting News carries a picture of Centerville's brilliant fullback; Robert (Red) Worrell, along with the ten other players on the Wigwam Wisemen All-American team . . . Murphy Mitchell, senior basketballer at Redstone, is being held out of league games while school officials investigate his sports eligibility.

* * *

Reportedly George (Beans) Chacko, ultra-successful Charleroi Junior High football-basketball coach, has submitted his resignation to the School Board. A source says that Chacko wants to get out of coaching for "physical reasons." He'll stay on as a teacher, though . . . Speaking at a meeting of the Basketball Curbstone Coaches the other day, Charleroi varsity boss Henry Pennline scolded Cougar fans who "are talking state championship." Said Pennline: "It's unfair to put undue pressure on the boys by telling them they're world-beaters and a championship team. It makes everybody's job that much harder."

Stesko Now Basketballer at Bethany

John Stetsko, who never played basketball at Monessen High, tossed in 10 points for Bethany College against West Virginia Tech the other night. The gangling Stetsko, who confined his schoolboy sports career to baseball, came into his own as a dribbler in the City Basketball League . . . Penn State's basketball team has remained consistently among the top ten in the nation on defense during the current campaign . . . Speaking of Penn State, the Nittany Lions haven't been completely embarrassed against Big Ten football opposition in recent years. In their last two midwest appearances, they handled both Illinois and Ohio State.

Fraley Picks Mantle As Top Pro Athlete

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP) — Mickey Mantle is dashing around the country picking up innumerable awards this winter and it should come as no secret that he probably will strap on the Hickok $10,000 gold and diamond belt Monday night as the pro athlete of the year.

Nothing has been announced on this officially, but Mantle's chief opposition for the Rochester award must be teammate Don Larsen, the World Series no-hitter, and heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson. But they still must stand as a couple of one-shots.

And one-shots don't win this costly bauble.

The voting in the past has proved as much. Remember when Jack Fleck upset Ben Hogan in the U.S. Open? Well, Fleck received reams of publicity. Yet when the votes were counted, Otto Graham had the gimcrack fastened around his waist

Poll Made Monthly

The monthly award winners in the Hickok polls were basketballers Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawks and Paul Arizin of the Philadelphia Warriors, jockey Eddie Arcaro, golfer Jackie Burke, Dale Long of the Pittsburgh Pirates, Mantle, Sal Maglie of the New York Giants, Don Newcombe of the Brooklyn Dodgers, Larsen, Patterson and Frank Gifford of the New York football Giants.

Baseball players seem to have an edge in polls of this sort, primarily because they hold the headlines for such a long length of time.

In the six years of this award, diamond dandies have taken it three times. Phil Rizzuto won it in 1950; Allie Reynolds in 1951, and Willie Mays when the Say Hey Kid had his fabulous season in 1954.

Marciano In 1952

The three other winners were Ben Hogan 1953, Rocky Marciano 1952, and Graham 1955.

You could also make a case this year for Johnny Longden, who set a new all-time jockey record for total victories, or two-time national riding champion Willie Hartack. But the signs are that they'll be buried along with all the other candidates as Mantle emerges supreme.

Larsen's no-hitter, the first in World Series history, was a tremendous performance. And Patterson's win over Archie Moore was impressive but, as they say on the fight beat, who else did he beat?

Mantle had them talking throughout the entire baseball season. His efforts had to be the year's best pro performance. And if he doesn't get the Hickok belt, the kid from Oklahoma "wuz robed."

Construction Set For Navy Stadium

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (UP)— Construction is expected to start in mid-March on a new $3 million football stadium at the U.S. Naval Academy, it was announced today.

Adm. William Smedberg III, Academy superintendent, said the double-decked, 31,000 seat stadium would be known as "Navy and Marine Corps Stadium" and would replace 16,000 seat Thompson Field as the site of Navy's home football games.

Penn State Bows To Syracuse; Tech Loses to Geneva

By UNITED PRESS

Penn State missed three out of every four field shots at the basket Wednesday night and opened an easy path for Syracuse to romp to a 75-45 triumph at the Nittany Lions' home court.

Carnegie Tech traveled north to Beaver Falls to suffer its eighth consecutive defeat, 75-71, at the hands of Geneva.

Syracuse's Orangemen were as hot as Penn State was cold. The visitors scored 28 of 48 field goal attempts while the Lions could do no better than 19 tallies on 73 tries. Syracuse took a 4-2 lead in the opening minutes and was never headed.

Vince Cohen, the Orangemen's jumping-jack center, notched 23 points to lead the scoring. Len Clark, his teammate, had 18

Bob Rainsy of Penn State scored 20 points but the next high man for the Lions, Ted Kubista, could manage no more than 6 tallies.

The defeat dropped Penn State's record to 9-4 while Syracuse's record became 9-3.

Billy Blair registered 26 points in leading Geneva to its third consecutive victory of the season over Carnegie Tech. The Tartans fell behind in the first half and were trailing 38-33 midway. Geneva's record now stands 8-2 against a 3-9 mark for the Tartans.

Frankies Win

St. Francis of Loretto won its sixth victory in 10 outings in defeating Westminster, 73-61, at Altoona Wednesday night. Behind 17-10 midway through the opening half, the Frankies hit for 10 straight points to get the lead for keeps. George Strehler led the losers with 21 tallies.

Sophomore Harry Folk, the "iron man" of St. Vincent, scored 23 points to lead the Bearcats to an 83-56 homecourt victory over Waynesburg. It was St. Vincent's fifth victory against six setbacks, a mark that will stand until the Bearcats return to action Jan. 31 after midterm exams.

Washington & Jefferson, playing on its homecourt, defeated Allegheny, 84-66. But Allegheny's Mel Lascoff pumped in 24 points for the losers to lead the scoring. The victory was No. 9 for the Presidents against a lone defeat.

No collegiate action is scheduled in Western Pennsylvania tonight.

Tyra Stopped But Louisville Keeps Winning

By UNITED PRESS

Louisville's rivals have discovered how to stop All-America candidate Charley Tyra, but last year's National Invitation Tournament champions keep right on winning just the same.

That's because a 6-5 senior named Bill Darragh, known until now chiefly for his defensive talents, has taken over the scoring chores where Tyra left off. For the third straight game Darragh out-scored Tyra Wednesday night, 28-18, and Louisville romped to a 104-67 win over Eastern Kentucky.

It was the sixth straight victory for the Cardinals who are ranked No. 6 nationally by the United Press Board of Coaches, and their 10th win in 12 starts.

Louisville foes have been ganging their defense around the 6-8 Tyra, who has averaged 23.5 points per game and is second in rebounding in the nation only to Wilt Chamberlain of Kansas. They haven't stopped Charley, but they've slowed him up — at the expense of having Darragh break loose.

Seattle, ranked No. 9 nationally, rolled to its 12th straight victory Wednesday night, 76-64, over Portland State. It was the Chieftains' 15th victory in 17 games.

Oklahoma A & M, No. 19 nationally, ended a two-game losing streak by downing Oklahoma, 57-43. The Aggies won this one at the free throw line, where they caged 31 of 43 attempts. Soph Gene Adair was the top scorer with 16 points, eight on free throws.

Pitt Coach at 'Prison' Banquet

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Inmates at Western State Penitentiary held their first annual athletic dinner Wednesday night.

Pitt football coach Johnny Michelosen was the featured "guest" speaker. Former Pirate Frankie Gustine and five players from the Panthers' 1956 Gator Bowl squad also attended.

Dave Sime to Receive Awards

DURHAM, N.C., (UP) — Dave Sime, Duke University track star, leaves for a two-day tour of New Jersey and Ohio today to pick up two "athlete of the year" awards. Sime, of Fairlawn, N.J., will receive one award tonight in his home state and then will be honored on Friday at the annual Columbus, Ohio, Touchdown Club's annual dinner.

Advance Plans for District Grid Loop

A five-man steering committee met for four hours yesterday to work out details on a proposed football conference of Class A schools in the district.

The committee drafted a tentative constitution and by-laws, which will now be submitted to the schools for final approval

Taking part in the meeting at the Shadyside Inn near Uniontown were Raymond Barker, Bellmar; William J. Means, North Union; C. W. Frankhouse, South Union; George J. Plava, German; and Raymond Ronco, Scottdale.

No less than 13 schools are included in the constitution as charter members. Two additional schools will be contacted this week in an effort to lure them into the league.

Two Divisions

The Conference — which has been tentatively named the Tri-County Conference — has divided schools into Eastern and Western Divisions.

The East will include German, North Union, South Union, Scottdale, Georges, Dunbar and Bellmar.

The West will be comprised of California, Burgettstown, Charters, Waynesburg, Bethlehem Joint, Jefferson and Carmichaels.

A spokesman for the committee pointed out that most of these schools already play each other. Thus there will be few schedule problems.

"With a little work on schedules, we could have the Conference in operation in time for this season," the spokesman said

Constitution Complete

The tentative constitution is already complete in all details. However the steering committee has scheduled another meeting for next Wednesday to consider the possible addition of other schools.

The constitution calls for a championship game each season between the Eastern and Western Division titlists.

Lions to Again Sponsor Bellmar All-Sports Fete

Bellmar High School's annual all-sports banquet will be held February 13 at Twin Coaches beginning at 6.30 p. m.

As usual, the affair will be promoted by three district Lions Clubs: Washington Twp., Fayette City and Belle Vernon.

In charge of arrangements will be Bap Manzini, Hurricane football coach.

Guests of honor will include all Bellmar varsity athletes as well as the cheerleaders. Senior letter winners in all sports will receive individual awards.

Al DeLuca, polished after-dinner speaker, will headline the show. DeLuca is the football coach at St. Vincent College. He is also associate professor of English at the Latrobe school.

Serving as toastmaster will be Frank Buscanics, Charleroi sportscaster.

Manzini said that other speakers will be announced later. Efforts are being made to secure several members of the 1956 Pitt football team.

Bellmar boosters may purchase tickets for the affair from Manzini or Lions Club members. The ducats sell for $2.50 each.

Colts Expected to Keep Ewbank

BALTIMORE, Md. (UP) — The Baltimore Colts were expected to end all speculation concerning Weeb Ewbank's status with the club today by announcing the meticulous former line coach of the Cleveland Browns will be allowed to finish out his two-year-contract as head coach next season.

Ewbank, who left the job with the Browns to take over the Baltimore helm in 1954, has been under fire for his coaching methods and there had been talk that he would be let out soon after the completion of the 1956 season.

Begin Accepting Contributions for Louis' Tax Debt

CHICAGO (UP) — Contributions to help pay Joe Louis' tax debt of $1,119,000 to the federal government will be accepted by a newly-formed corporation, it was announced today.

Officials of the corporation and Louis' attorney, John Payne, said they believed the debt possibly could be settled at about 25 or 30 cents on the dollar owed.

Louis has no connection with the fund, which will receive donations through Post Office Box 1174, Chicago, and Payne produced an affidavit signed by Louis in which he affirmed that he has not requested or solicited aid to pay his tax debt and that he would not receive or obtain control of any money obtained by the Joe Louis Fund.

George Washington's first inauguration was delayed more than a month because of travel difficulties.

Battle for City Loop Lead at Junior High Gym Beginning at 8

That long awaited showdown between the Cro-Ams and Viaduct will take place at the Junior High gym tonight with the City Basketball League lead hanging in the balance.

Both teams tuned up for the crucial meeting by scoring one-sided wins last night.

The unbeaten Cro-Ams rolled to their 12th straight win with ridiculous ease, mauling the Yellow Jackets, 60-35.

Viaduct's defending champions hammered the Cips, 64-39, for their 11th win in a row. The only mar on the Viaduct record is an opening game loss to the rival Cro-Ams.

A win tonight for Viaduct will throw the City League lead into a two-way tie. However a Cro-Am decision will put Coach Paul Kunsa's boys in commanding control and keep alive the possibility of the first undefeated record in City League history.

Game Begins at 8

Tonight's important clash will begin at 8 p. m.

Two other games are also scheduled. S-L will meet the Fuocos at 7 while the Yellow Jackets will take on Big Five at 9.

The Cro-Ams hurdled the Jackets last night by piling up huge scoring margins in the first three periods. Sam Dominico led the scoring with 19 points. Bob Petty chipped in with 16.

For the Jackets, Vaughn Wilkens was high with 11 tallies.

Young Scores 26

Viaduct rolled behind a 26 point scoring effort by Mike Young. Dick DiCensio also starred with a 22 point spree.

In another game last night, Big Five moved into third place with an impressive 58-48 win over East End.

John Bronson tossed in 18 points to spark a second half rally by Big Five. For East End, John Selestak had 13.

Monessen Goes To Donora Fri.

Greyhounds Seek 38th Straight Win In Section 5 Basketball Competition

Monessen High's rollicking basketballers will invade Donora tomorrow night for a stiff Section 5 test.

That game will set the stage for next Tuesday's big showdown clash with arch rival Charleroi.

However MHS coach Frank Janosik has refuse to look ahead to next Tuesday.

"We have to take our games one at a time", cautioned the wily Greyhound boss. "We can't afford the luxury of pointing for a certain team."

Janosik's concern over the Donora assignment appears genuine. Certainly the stage is set for an upset—if a Dragon win can even be termed an upset this year.

True enough, the Donora record isn't exactly overwhelming. But the Dragons have been improving and they are particularly strong at home.

Dragons Look Better

Significantly Donora looked much better in an exhibition test against Washington than did the Hounds. The Dragons barely lost a four point decision, while Monessen was hardly in the game against the Prexies earlier this week.

Still tradition is certainly going for Monessen. The Hounds haven't lost in 37 straight Section 5 games.

And the current cage crew always seems to play hardest when the stakes are the highest. There is a suspicion that the fun-loving Hounds will get excited about the Dragons once game time approaches.

Other Section 5 tussles Friday will send California to Charleroi and Bellmar to Monongahela.

Charleroi, a strong favorite to win Section 5 laurels this season, figures to get by California without a scare. That will send the Cougars to Monessen next Tuesday for their big challenge.

Bellmar Game Tossup

The Bellmar-Monongahela looks like a tossup, with neither team going anywhere in the Section 5 race this season.

In Section 10, Rostraver will sit out tomorrow's action. The Leps certainly earned a rest with their rousing victory over Ramsay last Tuesday to claim a share of the top spot in the section standings.

All other teams in the circuit will see duty tomorrow. Ramsay will go to Scottdale, Ligonier to Derry Twp. and Hurst to Dunbar.

The dog-fight will resume in Section 17. West Newton will travel to East Huntingdon, South Huntingdon to Irwin and Sewickley to Perryopolis.

No leagues games are scheduled tomorrow in either of the district's two Junior WPIAL sections.

However Rostraver will meet the Charleroi Juniors in an exhibition contest this afternoon.

Mantle, Yanks Begin Talks on Contract

By UNITED PRESS

Mickey Mantle, 1956 triple crown batting champion, arrived in New York Wednesday for what he termed "a preliminary meeting" with Lee MacPhail, the Yankees' director of player personnel.

The Oklahoman said "nothing much" came out of the contract talks with Mac Phail, who was sitting in for vacationing General Manager George Weiss.

Mantle said he plans to leave New York for Chicago Friday. During his weekend visit to the Windy City he plans to attend a sports dinner at which Weiss and Yankee Manager Casey Stengel also will be honored guests.

It was learned Mantle was offered a $5,000 increase over his reported 1956 salary of $32,500 in his intial contract.

And, although it may take time, the Oklahoma Kid and Weiss eventually are expected to settle in the $45,000-$50,000 range.

Braves Signing

Meanwhile, the Milwaukee Braves continued to line up their biggest stars for the 1957 National League push with the announced signing of third baseman Eddie Mathews.

The Californian hit 37 homers and had 95 runs-batted-in during 1956, but his batting average slipped from .289 to .272.

Outfielder Jackie Jensen, the last Red Sox player to come to terms last year, was the first to sign his 1957 contract with the Boston club. The Red Sox also announced the signings of veteran southpaw Mel Parnell and rookie outfielder Marty Keough.

Jackson Signs

The Brooklyn Dodgers signed infielders Randy Jackson and Charlie Neal, bringing to 22 the number of players under contract for the coming season, while outfielder Wally Moon became the 30th member of the St. Louis Cardinals to sign on the dotted line.

Other signings included pitcher Connie Johnson, Baltimore Orioles; infielder Tom Carroll, catcher John Blanchard and outfielder Marion Zipfel, Yankees; pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm, New York Giants; catcher Mack Burk and pitcher Jack Meyer, Philadelphia Phillies.

Sandy Saddler's Manager Wants To Sue NBA

MIAMI, Ia. (UP)— Manager Charley Johnston, who threatens to sue the National Boxing Association for stripping Sandy Saddler of his world featherweight title, won't be able to appear before the New York Athletic Commission Friday as requested.

The New York Commission sent a telegram to Johnston Wednesday asking him to appear before their regular weekly meeting to arrange a physical examinaiton of Saddler by commission doctors.

"My wife has just had a serious operation and I can't leave Miami until the doctors give her the okay, which will be in a week or 10 days," Johnston said.

When informed of the NBA's action against Saddler, which the New York Commission has declined to recognie, ohnston grew angry and threatened to "sue each member of the National Boxing Association individually for a million dollars"

Register Tonight For Swim Class

Registration for a men's swimming class at the Junior High pool will take place tonight at 7 p. m.

The number of men registering will determine the future of the swim sessions.

If enough men turn out, the Recreation Department will sponsor weekly classes on Thursdays at 8 p. m. In charge will be Joe Gladys, Monessen High swim teacher.

"We have had several requests for such a class," said Recreation Director George Nicksich. "In the past, response by the men has been poor. If enough turn out tonight, we'll be happy to add swimming to our winter program."

SC Grid Coach Denies Fabulous Houston Offer

COLUMBIA, S.C., (UP)—Young Warren Giese, denying a reported "fabulous offer" to coach football at Houston, turned his attention instead today to spring practice and recruiting to prepare the South Carolina Gamecocks for the 1957 season.

Giese announced Wednesday night he had withdrawn his name from consideration for the vacancy at Houston and "I have every intention of fulfilling my three-year contract" at South Carolina.

Only Wednesday morning, the handsome, 32-year-old coach returned from a two-day visit to the Texas school's campus. He had been invited by Houston officials to discuss the vacancy created when Coach Bill Meek switched to Southern Methodist.

Giese denied that he ever had a firm offer from Houston but sources here insisted he could have had the job for the asking. He was reportedly offered $20,000 a year for five years, an automobile, a home and some stock.

His salary at South Carolina is $12,000 per year.

In his first season, Giese guided a green South Carolina squad, which numbered 20 sophomores on its first three teams, to seven wins and three losses. The Gamecocks ranked among the top five nationally in team defense, permitting no opponent more than two touchdowns.

No Diamond Show In Dixie in '57

CHAPEL HILL, N.C., (UP) — The Dixie Baseball Classic, which pits four outside teams against North Carolina's big four—wake Forest, North Carolina, Duke and North Carolina State—will not be held this year but will be revived in 1958. Walter Rabb, University of North Carolina baseball coach, made the announcement Wednesday night.

Dukes Haven't Surprised Moore; They've Stunned Him!

By RUDY CERNKOVIC

PITTSBURGH (UP) — The Duquesne Dukes emerged as the surprise team in the East today because they pushed the clock forward on Coach Dudey Moore's timetable.

The bewildered coach readily admitted the success of his proteges "stunned me." The Dukes rounded out the first half of their campaign with nine victories in 13 starts including two upsets.

"I'm not surprised at their showing," Moore said. "I'm stunned. This isn't the team of 1957 — it's the 1959 team operating ahead of schedule. I didn't think Bernie Matthews and Red Ryan would show so much class as sophomores. The way I figured it—they would not be ready for another season or two."

Moore made it clear he was not complaining.

"I'm just delirious with surprise," the usually pessimistic coach confided. "But I'm not looking for an antidote."

The pre-season experts consigned the Dukes to the also-ran status, especially with the loss of Si Green. Moore predicted the team would win "four games—maybe five."

The Dukes' spectacular success in winning the last five of their six games make them likely competitors in the National Invitational Tournament. But Moore registered his best horrified look when the NIT was mentioned.

"Let's not talk about that right now," he said. "We still have half the season to go."

Even the dreamers didn't think the Dukes would trip St. Louis in the Bluegrass tournament consolation game at Louisville or upset Dayton. Then the Dukes amazed with their 60-59 victory over Cincinnati.

Balm for Moore

The Dayton triumph was balm for Moore's wounded pride. The Flyers defeated the Dukes 88-85 in the Bluegrass festival for the worst defeat experienced by Moore during his 22-year coaching career.

But the following week the Dukes avenged themselves with a 79-71 triumph over the Flyers.

"There was a case of humiliation replacing the well-known inspiration," Moore said. "The boys were so stung by that defeat that they were determined to beat Dayton—and they did."

Moore cites the Dayton victory as the turning point for the Dukes.

"After that Dayton victory it seemed that almost overnight we became a team," he said.

"Our offense began to jell—don't ask me why. Ryan and Matthews suddenly matured. That Matthews has guts — he isn't afraid to pitch from any angle.

"Ryan has been a solid performer. He's only five feet 10 but he has the spring of a taller player. He stole the ball a few times from Roy Alcorn of St. Louis, a more experienced player.

"Dave Ricketts has gained poise and confidence this season and in my opinion is one the best foul shooters in college basetball today. He was terrific against De Paul, dropping in 12 straight foul shots to extend his streak to 24 in four games.

"Jack Sauer makes up in hustle as a forward what he lacks in natural ability. I admit I get discouraged with him at times but he is battling all the way all the time.

"Ralph De Palma may not measure up to the ideal center qualifications but he's a good fifth man. He comes up with timely rebounds and he sets up a screen. As I always said—the fifth man may not help a team but he certainly does not do it any harm."

Stokes Great Even in Setback

By UNITED PRESS

A record-breaking performance by Maurice Stokes wasn't enough Wednesday night to gain the Rochester Royals a virtual tie for the Western Division lead in the National Basketball Association.

Stokes tallied 31 points and set a Rochester Arena record with 33 rebounds, but the Royals bowed in overtime to the St. Louis Hawks, 108-106. A win would have put the Royals within two percentage points of Fort Wayne; the loss left them a game behind.

Pettit, who took team scoring honors with 22 points, tallied two free throws with a minute left to create a 98-98 tie and send the game into overtime. Then Share scored three baskets and Pettit had two more free throws in the a session.

Record High Total of Night Games Set in AL

CHICAGO, (UP) — A record high of 237 night games will be played in the American League during the 1957 season, continuing the trend toward more after-dark activity.

The Baltimore Orioles, who played 42 night games last season, are the 1957 arclight champions. The Orioles, who enjoyed a fairly successful 1957 season at the gate despite their lowly finish in the A.L. race, will play 47 games after dark in 1957, while the Kansas City Athletics, who played 44 last year, are down for 43 in 1957 for second place, according to the schedule released today by league headquarters.

The Washington Senators, last year's after dark champions with 45 games, are scheduled for 38 in 1957. The Indians are down for 31 night games, one up from last season, while the Chicago White Sox are scheduled for 22, one less than in 1957.

The Detroit Tigers and Boston Red Sox, who have been holding the line for fewer night games, have upped their 1957 after dark schedule from 14 each to 21 and 18, respectively. The New York Yankees, who played 16 last year, are up one for 1957.

This year's total tops 1956's night game schedule by nine, but falls considerably short of the National League's figure of 259.

The Orioles and Senators open the season in Washington on April 15, one day sooner than the others.

The season opened on April 17 last year and closed on Sept. 30. The 1957 season closes one day sooner.

Commission to Get 'Dope' Purse

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — The Pennsylvania Athletic Commission is taking steps to collect the $4,000 purse it fined light heavyweight Harold Johnson for his poor showing here in a bout with Julio Mederos 18 months ago. The commission has obtained a release signed by Johnson giving it the authority to collect the money from Promoter Herman Taylor who has been holding it in escrow. Johnson collapsed in the second round claiming he had been handed a "doped orange" by a stranger before the bout.

Geneva Football Star Remains In Poor Shape

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UP)—Dick Kadis, 21, Geneva College football player who suffered brain injuries in a game Sept. 29, remains hospitalized in poor condition today.

Doctors said they were uncertain whether the grid star would ever recover completely.

Kadis was injured in a game against Waynesburg College two days before his 21st birthday. He stopped a touchdown run and apparently was kicked in the head in the tackle. On the bus taking the team back to the Geneva campus, Kadis collapsed.

After emergency medical treatment, Kadis was taken to St. Francis Hospital in Pittsburgh where he was detained until Dec. 13. He then was transferred to Lutheran Hospital here to be closer to his family.

Medical bills continue to grow as the boy's condition remains serious. Frank Kadis, his father, has borrowed $3,000 to pay about $6,900 towards the bills. Geneva College, which carries no insurance for football injuries, has contributed $1,000.

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear wife, mother and grandmother, Mrs. Marie McGovern, who died five years ago, January 16, 1952.
You are not forgotten, loved one,
Nor will you ever be
As long as life and memory last
We shall remember thee.
We miss you now, our hearts are sore,
As time goes on we miss you more.
Your loving smile, your gentle face.
No one can fill your vacant place.
Sadly missed by Husband, Children and Grandchildren

In memory of George Alberts, who died one year ago today, January 17, 1956.
The world may change from year to year,
And friends from day to day,
But the memory of those we love,
Will never fade away.
Rose and Dawn

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, George Luzanski, who passed away one year ago today, January 17, 1956.
Today is a day of remembrance and many sad regrets.
For death came to part
And took from us his hand
And bade him be the first to start
Into the promised land.
His thoughts were all so full of us
He never could forget
And so we think that where he is
He must be watching us yet.
We've missed you in your garden
We miss your footsteps at the door
George — Dad we miss you everywhere.
We like to think when life is done
Wherever Heaven may be
That he will be standing at the door
To welcome us lovingly.
Sadly missed by his wife and children

Congress to Be Asked To Up Postage Rate

WASHINGTON (UP)—The administration is reported planning a new try at sending the three-cent stamp the way of the nickel cup of coffee.

Informed sources said today the administration will ask Congress in a few weeks to boost the cost of mailing first class letters from three to five cents an ounce.

The administration last year tried to boost the cost of a first class stamp to only four cents.

The House passed the bill after a sharp fight. But the bill died in the Senate.

Some congressmen believe a postal rate increase has a better chance this year. However, the bill's path is certain to be all up hill.

Other congressional news:

Budget — Economy-minded congressmen vowed to do their utmost to cut President Eisenhower's record peace-time budget. However, no one believed the $71.8 billion budget could be cut enough to make a tax cut possible and still keep the government operating in the black.

GI Loans: The administration proposal to increase interest rates on GI housing loans hit a snag: A congressional drive to include home-buying veterans under a liberalized FHA program. No early House action on the administration proposal seemed likely.

Bonds: Rep. Abraham J. Multer (D-NY) called U.S. savings bonds the "world's worst" investment. Multer said Congress should increase the return bondholders will receive when their bonds mature. He is sponsoring two bills that would make the bonds a higher-paying investment.

Final Homage Paid Today to Humphrey Bogart

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Movietown's great and humble gathered today at All Saints Episcopal Church to pay final homage to actor Humphrey Bogart who died Monday morning of cancer.

The eulogy to the tough-talking, soft-hearted motion picture star was to be read by his close friend, director-producer John Huston, in a memorial service crowded with Hollywood luminaries.

Because cremation will take place at the same time at Forest Lawn Memorial-Park, no pallbearers were designated.

Ushers at the church rites were David Niven, producer Leland Hayward, restaurateur Mike Romanoff, producer Nunnally Johnson, agent Irvin Lazar and Larry Dudley, a yachting companion of Bogart's.

Private interment ceremonies will be held at Forest Lawn to be attended by Bogart's widow, Lauren Bacall, their two children, Stephen, 8, and Leslie, 4, and close friends of the family.

Mrs. Bogart said into the urn with his ashes will go a tiny gold whistle that he wore as a mate to one she carried in the film "To Have and To Have Not." It was inscribed, "If you need anything, just whistle."

Elder Preaches Own Funeral Sermon Today

JOHNSTON CITY, Ill. (UP)— Elder Charles M. Weaver of the Primitive Baptist Church here preaches his own funeral sermon today.

The Rev. Weaver, a minister of the Primitive or "hardshell" Baptist sect for 62 years, died Tuesday at the age of 89 after a heart attack.

One of the elder's desires in recent years was to say the last words over his own body as a windup to his career.

Seven years ago he made preparations for the funeral by putting a 15-minute sermon on a 12-inch record.

Weaver's widow, Alice, and funeral director Roland Murman arranged to play the record at today's service. Both have heard the sermon before.

Mrs. Weaver said the record is "almost as if he were preaching someone else's funeral."

Weaver started the oration without any introductory remarks and hardly mentioned himself anywhere in the sermon which runs through both sides of the record.

103 German War Criminals in Jails

BONN, Germany (UP)— Only 103 German war criminals still are held in western Allied jails, Foreign Minister Henrich Von Brentano reported Wednesday night.

He said this compares to the nearly 3,500 held by the Allies at the beginning of 1950. In a report to parliament, Brentano said 39 of the prisoners are in jails inside West Germany and the rest are being held outside the country.

Coogan Plays Coogan

HOLLYWOOD (UP)— Jackie Coogan is not playing himself in "The Jackie Coogan Story" but a Coogan is, the former child star announced today. Coogan, who is filming his life story, as an independent production, said his 4-year-old daughter will portray him as a child.

'No Change' in Inaugural Ban

WASHINGTON (UP)— White House Secretary James C. Hagerty said Wednesday he knows of "no change" in the decision to ban reporters and cameras from President Eisenhower's private inaugural Sunday.

He made the statement when asked if any reconsideration was being given to the edict in view of complaints from all news media as well as from some congressmen.

He said President Eisenhower "of course" has seen the complaints since some of the messages were addressed to him. He had no further comment.

Public Opinion Poll Sizes Up Our Doctors

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

What do you think of your doctor and doctors in general?

We physicians and surgeons know a lot more than you may think about your opinions of us.

A public opinion poll conducted by the American Medical Association, not long ago, showed that 82 per cent of our population has a family doctor, or at least a certain doctor to call first when ill.

What do these Americans think about their doctors and other doctors?

Well, for one thing, about 51 per cent, according to the survey, believe that doctors are often difficult to contact for emergency calls. Yet only 19 per cent think their own doctors are hard to reach on such occasions.

Most persons, therefore, seem to think their personal physicians are pretty easy to get hold of when the occasion demands.

Nearly half of the public — 41 per cent — believe doctors keep patients with appointments waiting too long. Yet only 15 per cent think this is true of their own doctors.

Very few persons, only 5 per cent, think their own doctors are too quick to recommend an operation. Many more, however — 31 per cent — believe this is true of most doctors.

Now let's see what the doctors themselves think about all this.

Ten per cent of the doctors believe that other doctors recommend an operation too quickly. And 32 per cent think that doctors are difficult to reach in an emergency case.

More than one-fourth of the doctors queried — 27 per cent — think that physicians keep their patients waiting too long before seeing them.

And the vast majority of doctors themselves — 71 per cent — believed that the thing most patients would object to would be the fees. Yet only 16 per cent of the public think their own doctors charge too much.

From all this it appears that you have a lot of faith in your doctor. And that, my friends, is as it should be.

TV Doctor Is Called in to Help Sick Shows

NEW YORK (UP) — When a TV show gets sick, two courses are open—allow it to die or call in a doctor.

Don Appell, at present producer-director of his own ABC-TV effort—"This Is Galen Drake"—is one of those doctors. Over the past half-dozen years, Appell has answered distress calls from a variety of performers including Imogene Coca, Red Buttons and Orson Bean.

"It's a heartache business, this TV troubleshooting," confessed Appell today. "It's not like being a play doctor on Broadway where you can keep a show out of town until it's ready.

"On TV, you've got to produce immediately. The trouble is, you're just doing patchwork. It's really an exhausting job — the kind where you can wind up a hero or a bum in a few short weeks."

Appell, only 35, carries some wide-angle credits. He has acted in radio, TV, Broadway and the movies. He also has drawn pay as a burlesque straight man, social director, nightclub emcee and Broadway playwright and director.

His first full-dress TV job was in 1950 as producer-director-writer of CBS-TV's "Vaughn Monroe Show." It ran for a year and as a result of it, he was called in to troubleshoot on "Stop The Music."

Steel Industry To Spend Record For Expansion

NEW YORK (UP)— The nation's steel industry will spend an all-time high of $1.7 billion for expansion in 1957 to meet the increasing demand for steel, the American Iron and Steel Institute has predicted.

The expansion outlay will be 42 per cent, or $500 million, more than the industry plunked down in 1956. It follows the expenditure of $8 billion for new equipment and construction since World War II.

The institute, noting steel companies are spending more than six times more for expansion than they were a decade ago, said the firms will "have to continue spending heavily for years to come" to meet the demands of a bigger population and a growing industry.

MACARTHUR II ANSWERS CALL — Douglas MacArthur II, newly appointed ambassador to Japan, answers the Red Cross call for blood donations in Washington before leaving for his new post in Tokyo.

Liberal Polish Leader Subjected to Smears

WARSAW (UP)—The die-hard Stalinist Communists he kicked from office have launched a smear campaign against liberal Polish Communist Leader Wladyslaw Gomulka, according to reports today.

The already-tense situation was further intensified by an official admission that anti-Semitism, which Gomulka has fought, was on the rise.

Informed sources said the anti-Gomulka campaign was launched in his own constituency by the "conservative" element in the Communist Party, formerly known as the "Natolin" group. The group is led by Franciszek Mazur, who was ousted from the Politburo when Gomulka returned to power last October.

"Anti-social" elements were also reported joining in the campaign to smear Gomulka virtually on the eve of the important general elections.

Observers agreed there is little doubt Gomulka would retain his seat in the Sejm (parliament) in the Sunday elections. His name tops the list of candidates in the northeast Warsaw district of Praga. In addition his prestige was given a substantial boost by the Sino-Polish communique issued after Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai's visit.

The declaration, while recognizing Russia's leadership in world Communist policy, supported Gomulka's stand for an "independent Poland."

But the anti-Gomulka drive was seen as an ominous sign of apparent resistance from the "old Communists" toward his new "democratized" policy.

Princess Grace Chooses Names For Her Baby

MONACO (UP)—Prince Rainier announced today the baby born to Princess Grace will be named Gregoire if a boy and Caroline if a girl.

And he said it will be born in the same hilltop palace where he was born and not in the Monaco maternity clinic as previously planned.

Princess Grace is expected to have the baby in a week to 10 days.

Rainier said the child will be "Monegasque."

"It will not be American," he said firmly.

It previously had been understood the boy would have dual nationality at least until early adulthood.

Rainier told newsmen at a press conference that his first-born if a boy will have four christian names: Gregoire, George, Pierre Richard; if a girl, Grace, Pierre, Patrice Caroline Louise Marguerite.

Palace sources said the christening sometimes mood "prince" calls off his current "cold war" with the press after a long talk with Princess Grace and her mother, Mrs. John B. Kelly of Philadelphia, Wednesday. He agreed to hold a press conference today.

Westinghouse in Record Sales to Overseas Clients

NEW YORK (UP) — Westinghouse Electric International Co. reported today record commercial sales to overseas customers during 1956.

The company expected to do as well in 1957.

W. E. Knox, president of the foreign sales subsidiary of Westinghouse Electric Corp., said sales bookings last year were 25 per cent more than 1955 and unfilled orders ran 40 per cent ahead.

Knox noted part of the backlog was caused by the 156-day Westinghouse strike which ended last March.

A strong Japanese market for power generating equipment was a major factor in making 1956 the biggest sales year, Knox declared. Three giant turbine - generators were sold to Japanese utilities and electric equipment was ordered for installations in Formosa, France, Italy, Spain, Argentina, India and Mexico.

Explosion Kills Three Persons At Kansas Plant

LIBERAL, Kan. (UP)— An explosion shattered the main engine room and office of Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Co. late Wednesday, killing three workmen and injuring numerous others.

At least eight workmen were hospitalized and two of them were listed as in critical condition. Several other men received minor injuries that required only first aid.

The explosion rocked a wide area and shook windows in Liberal, 13 miles away. Officials said a cylinder in a gasoline engine used in compressing gas ruptured, allowing gas to enter the engine room and setting off the blast.

The explosion caused a cutback in service by the company, which has markets in eight mid-continent states. However, officials said none of the municipalities it serves would be affected.

The dead men were identified as Melvin Swofford, 35; Ivan Hill, 40, and Jim Haynes, 30, all of the Liberal area.

Unexpected Relief

JACKSON, Mich. (UP) — Two "Indian medicine men" relieved more than William A. Williams' arthritis Wednesday, Williams told police a man and woman drove up to his home and offered to ease the pain of his arthritis with a liquid "cure." Later, he discovered they had relieved him of his wallet while rubbing his legs.

45-STAR FLAG FOR INAUGURAL — K. G. Kavadias, bakery-restaurant operator in Washington, displays his 50-year-old, 45-star American flag, which will fly during inauguration parade at request of President Eisenhower. Kavadias' Greek father rescued the flag in a shipwreck. Later he gave the tattered, faded flag to the son, and it encouraged the son to come to America. The President said he "would be honored to have the flag . . . in the inaugural parade."
